PRESIDENT ATTACKS DEMOCRATS

"Hunger Marchers" Send Ultimatum To Government

THREATEN TO REMAIN IN LONDON

Serious Trouble Promised By Agitators Unless Commons Gives Relief
RIOTING ON SUNDAY
Men Billeted at Four Central Points Adjacent to Government Offices

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The "Hunger Army" invading London presented an ultimatum to government and municipal authorities today, threatening serious trouble unless they are allowed to present their petition for relief to the House of Commons. The jobless agitators, whose presence here has led to serious rioting, threatened to remain in London indefinitely, stage repeated demonstrations to enlist public support, and hold their present temporary lodgings by force if necessary. The marchers spent the day invading various boroughs and participating in mass meetings. Originally the marchers were scheduled to begin their journey homeward afoot and by rail after tomorrow. Since police served notice on them they would be allowed to approach within a mile of Parliament, their original objective, the organizers decided the marchers should assemble on Clerkenwell Green and choose 30 leaders to accompany 20 elected representatives of local trade unions in a march on Commons. Organizers at headquarters of the marchers said: "If the police balk the deputation, we can't say what will happen. It is certain some of the marchers will not be intimidated, since they already have proved their mettle and behaved with discipline better than that of the police."

Consolidate Positions
The hunger marchers, consolidating their positions were billeted today at four central points in comparatively comfortable institutions and workhouses. Oddly enough, their present quarters were so much better than they are accustomed to that their leaders feared wholesale desertions, so they could remain in London. Municipal authorities, however, said they would not harbor them. The cabinet held a special meeting.

THREE INJURED IN BIG BOILER BLAST

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(UP)—A huge steam boiler in which cereal was being prepared at the Midland Mission exploded early today, injuring three men and virtually wrecking the dining room of the welfare establishment. The explosion tore a gaping hole in the ceiling of the room, and plastered oatmeal over the entire building. Paul Erwin, 22, an employee, suffered second degree burns. Chester Couch, 20, seated behind the boiler reading a paper, was knocked ten feet and slightly injured. Fred Pastove, 30, standing 15 feet away, was slightly burned. Two other employees were treated at receiving hospital for burns.

THREE GUESSES

DRY ORGANIZATIONS COMBINE TO PREVENT MODIFICATION

SENATOR RACE IN CALIFORNIA GROWING WARM

Tabbs and Shuler in North While McAdoo Travels South to Speak

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—(INS)—Intensified presidential and senatorial campaign activity shifted to northern California today in the week's final vote drive for the November 8 general election.

In the spectacular, three-cornered senatorial race, Tallant Tubbs, young Republican prohibition repeal advocate, and Rev. Robert P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler, militant Los Angeles dry crusader, were both speaking in Sacramento today.

While Tubbs and Shuler crossed campaign swords at the capitol, William Gibbs McAdoo, Democratic entrant for the senatorship, was en route from Los Angeles via Watsonville and Santa Cruz to address a San Francisco rally tonight.

Presidential interest centered on reported plans of President Herbert Hoover to close his campaign at his Palo Alto, Cal., home, and Republican chiefs at the capitol were seeking verification of these reports.

Secretary of agriculture Arthur M. Hyde was enroute to Kansas City today after closing his California drive for Hoover in a Sacramento address.

In his California windup, Secretary Hyde fired a joint attack on relief proposals of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the "progressive" of Senator Hiram Johnson in bolting from Republican ranks.

Turning on Johnson in the latter's home city of Sacramento, Secretary Hyde criticized his switch to Roosevelt with this thrust:

"It takes — men to pull together, but any idiot can rock the boat."

In this connection, political observers predicted that Senator Johnson would briefly turn his oratorical guns on Hyde when the senior California senator fires his second speech against the Hoover administration in Los Angeles tomorrow night.

TWO VETERAN STAGE ACTORS ARE CALLED

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Deaths of two veteran stage and screen actors were mourned in the film colony today.

Emmett Corrigan, 65-year-old character actor who attained fame because of his resemblance to President Chester Allen Arthur, died from a heart attack while watching a card game in the Masquers' club. Among pictures he appeared in were "What Price Glory" and "Silver Dollar."

The second death was that of David Hartford, independent producer and dramatic instructor, who was stricken after making a campaign speech for Charles Kramer, Democratic candidate for congress. Corrigan had acted as Kramer's campaign manager.

HAROLD MACGRATH CALLED BY DEATH

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 31.—(UP)—The last of a long series of novels lay unfinished today as arrangements were made for the funeral of Harold T. MacGrath, prominent American writer. MacGrath collapsed early Sunday while working on the book—the theme of which was undiscussed—and died a few minutes after his wife reached his side from an adjoining room. He will be buried here tomorrow, with afternoon services in St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Former Kaiser Ready To Return, Says

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(INS)—"I am ready to return to Germany if my people desire it, but not otherwise," Former Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany told this to the Rev. J. Llewellyn Thomas, of Aberpergwm, Glamorgan-shire, Wales, during a recent conversation at Doorn, the ex-kaiser's exile home in Holland. The Rev. Thomas was back in his parish today after a trip to Doorn to renew his acquaintance with the former German emperor.

SCORING RULES IN BRIDGE ARE CHANGED TODAY

Limit is Boosted Skyward Although Few Penalties Are Softened

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Bridge, America's $100,000,000 industry, brought out today a new, 1932, 12 cylinder contract scoring model that will make the players of the United States, England and France throw everything out the window except the tables they play on.

Books by experts, score pads and table covers decorated with the old system of computation will be discarded. And the game itself, whether it is played for a 10th of a cent a point or a dollar, will run into important money.

The Rules were announced today by the Whist Club of New York, which bears the same relation to the game that the New York state boxing commission does to the ring. The Portland club of London, and the commission Du Bridge of France concurred in the decision by which the scoring limit is boosted skyward, although a few penalties are softened.

The most important features of the new rules are:

- Higher penalties for "under tricks, non vulnerable and doubled."
- Lower penalties for under tricks vulnerable, undoubled, doubled and redoubled.
- A revised no trump contract making three no trump equal to five in a minor suit.
- Elimination of the bonus for making contract on doubled and redoubled bids.
- Lower count for extra tricks when not doubled or redoubled.
- Increased bonuses for vulnerable and non-vulnerable grand slams.

Under the old rules the maximum number of points was 530. Now it is 600. It is possible, at the other extreme, under the new rules it is possible to lose a maximum of 20,000 points on one hand.

A comparison of scoring under old and new systems follows:

Undertrick Penalties
Tricks	Old	New	Doubled
1-100	100	100	200
2-200	200	200	400
3-300	300	300	600
4-400	400	400	800
5-500	500	500	1000
6-600	600	600	1200
7-700	700	700	1400
8-800	800	800	1600
9-900	900	900	1800
10-1000	1000	1000	2000

Slams
Slams	Old	New	Doubled
Small Slams	Grand	Grand	Grand
1-1000	1000	1000	2000
2-2000	2000	2000	4000
3-3000	3000	3000	6000
4-4000	4000	4000	8000

VERDICT OF MURDER AND SUICIDE GIVEN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(UP)—A verdict of murder and suicide was written on police records today, closing an investigation into the death of Oliver Bernstrom, 40, and his 27-year-old wife, Juanita. The two had quarreled violently over finances in the presence of several guests attending a party at their home, witnesses said. While horror-stricken guests looked on, police said, Bernstrom fired a single shot into his wife's brain and then turned the gun on himself. He died three hours later in a hospital.

MILLION SPENT BY DEMOCRATS FOR CAMPAIGN

Raskob and Hearst Contribute $25,000 Each and Baruch $45,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The Democratic National committee today reported to the clerk of the house that it had received $1,065,654 for its campaign activities from June 1 to Oct. 22. The committee reported expenditures of $926,208 during the same period.

Direct contributions to the committee during that time totaled $789,329.

From Sept. 1 to Oct. 22 the committee reported receipts of $329,334 and disbursements of $495,260. Its balance on hand Oct. 22 for the last two weeks of the campaign was $132,724.

Contributions from Sept. 1 to Oct. 22 totaled $681,836. In addition, John J. Raskob wrote off $5000 of the committee's debt to him.

During this period the committee borrowed $85,996 and $25,441 was obtained from the sale of medals. The committee reported unpaid pledges of $70,087 and unpaid oblations of $534,232.

The Democratic expenditures of $926,208 from June 1 to October 22 compared with expenditures of $1,404,179 reported Saturday by the Republican national committee for the period of June 1-Oct. 26. The Republicans' gross receipts for that period were $1,478,791.

The Republican National committee reported Saturday it had collected $1,478,791.56 between Sept. 1 and Oct. 26.

Bernard A. Baruch was the largest Democratic contributor during the period covered, being listed for $45,000 including $5000 which he paid to John J. Raskob toward liquidation of the latter's claim against the party.

Raskob himself gave $25,000, as did William Randolph Hearst.

Peter Gerry, former United States senator from Providence, R. I., gave $20,000 and John Nicholas Brown, also of Providence, gave $10,000. A contribution of $20,000 was given by W. H. Woodin of New York, and

THEATER IS ROBBED BY MASKED BANDITS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Northern California police today were notified to be on the look-out for two bandits who robbed the Alhambra theater of $500 Saturday night and last night made a vain attempt to obtain $2500 in the Fox Senator theater.

The men ordered Ward Hume, assistant manager of the Senator, into the manager's office, and attempted to open the large safe. When the telephone rang both fled, leaving untouched $200 in metal boxes in another safe, standing unopened near by.

The Alhambra theater robbery was done by one man, while the other apparently acted as a lookout. They forced Hazel Silva, cashier, to hand over the contents of the cash drawer, containing more than $500.

CROPS SOLD FROM HOSPITAL PROPERTY

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The sale of $23,000 in crops this year from the site of California's new million dollar mental hospital in Ventura county was predicted today by Dr. J. M. Toner, state director of institutions. The first payment on the year's harvest was a check for $10,000 for the sale of 2,650,000 pounds of sugar beets. The Ventura site empties a total of 1600 acres, planted to walnuts, beans, grain, alfalfa and sugar beets. Bids for construction are to be called for early next year, and the first unit will accommodate 90 patients, with a total of 7500 to be housed in other units later.

Legalizing Of Beer To Be Fought

Campaign to Be Discussed at Anti-Saloon Parley in Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The combined drive of "dry" organizations against attempts to modify the Volstead act at the next session of congress, will be based on the "economic folly" of legalizing beer.

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, discussing plans for the league's convention here in December, indicated the campaign would be along such a line.

Candidates and liquor leaders who promise beer for ballots and advocate beer as a panacea for the nation's ills are simply misleading the public," McBride said. "Beer would be unprofitable as a revenue measure. It would fail to promote temperance. It would not increase employment. It would not help any other business," he asserted.

In 1914, according to the dry leaders, a tax of only $60,159,473 was paid on beer, although in that year a record quantity was consumed.

Modification of the Volstead act to permit real beer would result in more traffic accidents, more alcoholic addicts, a decrease in merchandise sales, and a "convenient cover for illicit whiskey sales," he said.

SNOW FALLS, KILLS HOPE FOR RECOVERY

SHELDON, Wyo., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Snow which fell in the Big Horn mountains over the week and yesterday killed hopes for the recovery of the bodies of two hunters lost in a blizzard in the mountains two weeks ago.

A party of veteran mountain men, however, continued the search today for Fred Demmel and Del Yankin, who were separated from their deer hunting parties when the blizzard broke suddenly. It was believed the hunt would be abandoned after today.

The body of Dillon McKinnon, blanketed under six inches of snow, was found this week and near the body of Trapper river, in the Big Horns. He was lost in the same storm.

Five inches of snow fell in the mountains yesterday.

The snowfall was general over Wyoming and Montana.

ROBBERY PREVENTED BY ALERT NEWS BOY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(UP)—A newsboy's presence of mind in calling police was credited today with frustrating a robbery at the Warner Brothers Western theater last night and saving several thousand dollars.

The boy, whose name was not disclosed by officers, saw two men leap out of a big sedan and men through the lobby into the manager's office. Lloyd Thayer, assistant manager, and a friend, were being forced into the box office when the bandits heard the newsboy running. They fled, empty-handed.

FIRE LADDIES SAVE GIRL FROM FLAMES

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Miss Ruth Mary Casey, 20, Sacramento girl, had the local fire department to thank today for saving her life. She was rescued from the second floor of her home late yesterday where she was trapped by flames that prevented her brother, Jack Casey Jr., 20, from reaching her. The brother was taken to Sutter hospital to be treated for his burns.

BRIGHT SPOTS IN BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(UP)—United Air Lines, American Airways, Transcontinental, and National Parks Airways placed a $100,000 order with the Western Electric company for new radio telephone apparatus.

TOLEDO—For the fourth consecutive week, employment in Toledo increased last week, 51 major plants adding 388 workers during the period.

NEW CASTLE, Pa.—Lehigh Portland Cement company recalled 200 employees as the local plant reopened.

NEW YORK—Schulze Company, subsidiary of Sulte Retail Stores Corp., reported profit for the nine months to Sept. 30 was $318,835, compared with $312,241 in the first nine months of 1931.

LIMA, O.—The Deisel-Wemmer-Gilbert cigar factory, closed since last May, reopened, giving employment to 100 workers.

GOV. ROOSEVELT SEES VICTORY FOR BOURBONS

Democratic Nominee Carries Campaign to Maine in Speech to 5000

CITY HALL Auditorium, Portland, Me., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, invading Maine in the final drive of his campaign for the presidency, today predicted that the Democratic triumph in the September state election would be repeated in November.

The Democratic presidential nominee spoke extemporaneously to a cheering audience of 5000 persons. He addressed them as "my old friends and neighbors of Maine."

"I drove 135 miles today to thank the leaders of this state. I bear the message not on my part alone but on the part of men and women of the party all over the nation," he said.

Recalling that he spent many summers of his life in Maine, the governor added that "I have done more campaigning perhaps in Maine than in any other state with the exception of New York state and not always with the most successful of results. I know that it will be different on the eighth of November."

Approximately 7000 persons were gathered outside and 5000 inside city hall, with other thousands lining the streets through which the Roosevelt motorcade passed.

As the governor entered the city, huddled in his overcoat to escape the chill air, spectators along the way did not seem to recognize him. But as he neared city hall, he waved a greeting, and the crowds cheered.

Roosevelt received a tremendous ovation as he walked upon the steps of city hall with Governor-elect Louis J. Brann of Maine. Thousands of persons jammed the auditorium. Others, unable to gain admittance, stood about the street entrances.

Roosevelt entered Maine at Berwick after a swift automobile journey through Massachusetts and New Hampshire. He received a tumultuous reception in the Massachusetts cities of Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill.

Four negro marchers were arrested and several score other men were ejected from street cars by police when they refused to pay fares. Police squads pulled agitators from soap boxes, kept the marchers moving out of the loop, and untangled the traffic snaris they had caused.

THREE ARE HELD IN LINDBERGH INQUIRY

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Three men were held here today for questioning in the Lindbergh kidnapping case, after newspaper clippings describing the crime had been found in their possession.

The three, Michael Raduno, 38, Santo Ragno, 26, and Joseph Ringo, 48, all Franklin, N. J., were arrested by police after their strange actions had alarmed Mrs. Ellis Konkel, a Flinders housewife whose small son was recently killed by a hit and run driver.

The men attempted to persuade two of Mrs. Konkel's daughters, one 16 and the other 7, to accompany them on "a mysterious expedition" to find the slayer of their brother.

M'ADOO CELEBRATES HIS 69TH BIRTHDAY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(UP)—William Gibbs McAdoo, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator, was 69 years old today. So far as it was known, he planned no birthday celebration. He is in northern California on his campaign tour.

FIRST SEVERE STORM OF YEAR WHIPS CHANNEL

Coastwise Shipping Crippled and Floods Reported in France

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Wide-spread destruction was left today in the wake of the season's first severe autumnal storm, which whipped the north Atlantic and the coast for many miles inland.

A 60 mile gale paralyzed cross channel and coastwise shipping and caused floods inland.

The Lorient radio station received an S O S supposed to be from the British steamer Mirapuru with a broken rudder 100 miles from the coast. The pilot boat Bonitous was wrecked at Brest.

The four master Jean Dunois arrived at St. Malo from Green-land reporting waves of mountainous size, which swept away most of the lifeboats and severely injured the captain.

High waves flooded the streets of Lefevre and destroyed the new La Rochelle dike, causing heavy damage. The rivers Marne, Aisne, Seine and Loire had swelled from continuous rains, overflowing into low lying lands and drowning cattle, flooding villages and damaging crops.

Freezing temperatures with heavy snowfalls were reported from the Alps, Pyrenees, Vosges and Jura mountain regions.

A German airliner was reported forced down off Ostend, Belgium, during the storm, but radio advices said an unnamed ship had rescued the crew.

HUNGER MARCHERS IN CHICAGO RIOT

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Police broke up disorderly groups of hunger marchers in a half dozen spots in the loop late today after a parade of 15,000 of them past the city hall to a mass meeting in Grant park had been conducted without tumult.

Four negro marchers were arrested and several score other men were ejected from street cars by police when they refused to pay fares. Police squads pulled agitators from soap boxes, kept the marchers moving out of the loop, and untangled the traffic snaris they had caused.

BARBER SHOP BLOWN UP BY TERRORISTS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(UP)—Police renewed their drive against terrorists today following a new outbreak aimed at "independent" barber shops.

The shop of Robert E. Judd was wrecked by a bomb after the proprietor had ignored veiled threats to increase price of haircuts beyond 25 cents.

Two shops also were damaged by terrorists in Long Beach.

THREE KILLED AS PLANE IN CRASH

MOORESVILLE, N. C., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Three persons were killed when their airplane crashed near here today.

The dead are:

Edward H. Byars, 45, Charlotte, pilot; Earl Padgett, 42, and his daughter, Eileen, 19, of Lincoln.

The pilot evidently had become lost in a fog and crashed in an attempt to make a forced landing.

GARNER AND ROOSEVELT ASSAILED

Hoover in Speech at Baltimore Raps Bourbons Before Crowd of 6000

TARIFF PLAN FLAYED

Promises Maintenance of Protective Tariff if Returned to Presidency

WITH PRESIDENT Hoover enroute to New York, Oct. 31.—(UP)—President Hoover today charged his Democratic opponents of sponsoring "one of the most glaring attempts to violate the stability and sacred character" of the nation's currency since the Civil war.

Addressing a crowd gathered near the Mount Royal railroad station in Baltimore, Mr. Hoover returned sharply to the attack in his first speech of a day's intensive campaigning through five seaboard industrial states.

A crowd of 6000 gathered on the slopes outside the Mt. Royal station in Baltimore to greet the president. He walked through the station to a platform erected outside and was applauded enthusiastically.

HOOPER ENDANGERED

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 31.—(UP)—Authorities today learned that 39 spikes had been removed from rails on a high curve of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad over which President Hoover's special train passed late Saturday.

The spikes were pulled from a section of inside track on Allison's crossing about four miles west of Athens.

Two miners found the spikes which were hurled down a 40 foot embankment on which the rails were elevated. The track curves at the crossing. Railway officials said angle iron apparently held the tracks together until today, preventing a serious wreck.

Mr. Hoover's speech was delayed by a lengthy introduction by Edwin J. Baetjer, Baltimore Republican leader. After Baetjer had talked for more than 10 minutes he was interrupted by shouts of "We want to hear Hoover."

He said the Democratic house last session passed a measure which would have meant issuance of $2,000,000,000 of "greenback currency."

"The vice-presidential candidate in his campaign favored this measure, and the Democratic candidate or any speaker in this campaign has not seen fit to disavow it."

Mr. Hoover quoted Daniel Webster.

WILL ROGERS
says:

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(To the Editor of The Register): I have had a most terrible disappointment. I never do look at a calendar, and I naturally thought election came around the first day or so of November. So I was timing my South American jaunt to arrive back here after the speeches was over. And here I go and make a week's mistake in my time and arrive back in the midst of the most colossal rodeo of our national pastime. I would have rather made a forced landing in the Andes, or purposely stood straddle of the equator another week if I had known this. From now on you will never catch me without a calendar. I honestly believe there is people so excited over this election, that they think the President has something to do with running this country.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS

HOOVER FLAYS DEMOCRATS IN FIERY ADDRESS

ster as saying that "He who tampers with the currency robs labor of his bread, and panders to greedy capital."

Denouncing Roosevelt Governor Roosevelt's statement in Baltimore last week that the Republican party had gained control of all branches of the government, including the supreme court.

He declared the court is the "strongest bulwark of the permanence of our democracy" and added: "It surely would not be the will of the people of Maryland that the independence of this tribunal shall be undermined or brought into question for political party purposes, whether they be Democratic or Republican."

The president again denounced the Democratic tariff policy and promised maintenance of a protective tariff if returned to office for another four years.

The Baltimore speech follows in part: "Because the time is short on this occasion, I must limit myself to a statement of a few of the wide differences of policies which have developed between the Republican and the Democratic parties during this campaign. With the important concern of this city have in the issue in this campaign here is no better place to point out the effect which the course you may choose will have upon the future and the welfare of our state."

"A few days ago in this city the Democratic candidate made a statement in respect to the supreme court which must be the negation of the sentiment, the feeling and the resolution of the people of the state that produced Chief Justice Taney and other honored members who have helped to make the long history of the supreme court."

Mentions Tariff

"Of other matters for which Maryland has always stood constantly from her beginning, I might mention the protective tariff. Lately at Cumberland, I recalled that the first petition lodged with the congress which had just convened under the constitution was a petition signed by merchants and manufacturers, chiefly of the city of Baltimore, requesting a protective tariff in order that they might have industrial freedom as well as political freedom."

"That was the first petition acted upon by the congress. Thus the first piece of legislation signed by George Washington as president was a protective tariff measure passed in response to a petition from the state of Maryland. From that day to this your varied industries have grown and thrived under protective tariffs. They have withered and shriveled whenever that tariff has been lowered or when those protections have been abandoned."

"The livelihood of your workmen are peculiarly dependent upon it. Your agriculture is in particular danger from lowering of these tariffs because you are situated close to the seaboard and close to the point of attack of foreign imports."

"The Democratic party proposed to reduce this tariff. It proposes not only to reduce it generally, but it proposes to negotiate reciprocal tariffs, which can mean but one thing and that is to negotiate away the tariffs in favor of the import of some variety of goods. That is the reason why Maryland, except on a few occasions in the last 40 years has been Republican in national elections and has realized the fundamental interest of the state lay with the party which has stood staunchly for the protective tariff ever since that party was born. There has never been an hour when it was more necessary that Maryland maintain that vigilant attitude as to the tariff as the one which now threatens us."

Stable Currency

"Another of the policies upon which the state of Maryland has stood staunchly since the beginning is a sound and stable currency. This is an added reason why the state of Maryland has so often supported the Republican party in national elections. It is because it has been the party of sound and stable currency. We have had within the last five months the passage of an act of congress to issue $2,000,000,000 of greenback currency — one of the most glaring attempts to violate the stability and sacred character of currency of a people that we have seen in our country since the Civil war, when it was issued only in complete desperation and paid for by a thousand sufferings in the year which followed. The vice presidential candidate in this campaign fathered this measure, and the Democratic candidate or any speaker in this campaign has not seen fit to disavow it."

"In view of the attitude which the state of Maryland has taken in the support of stable currency I should like to repeat to you the most prophetic statement of an American statesman—Daniel Webster—one hundred years ago.

"He who tampers with the currency robs labor of its bread. He panders, indeed, to greedy capital, which is keen-sighted and may shift for itself, but he beggars labor, who is unsuspecting and too busy with the present to calculate for the future. The prosperity of the work people lives, moves and has its being in established credit and steady medium of payment."

Public Economy

"This has been a state given to economy in public expenditures and yet this last session of the Democratic house of representatives passed measures calling for an expenditure of three and one half billions, or an increase in federal expenditure by over 60 per cent in the face of the tremendous difficulties of our taxpayers and of the federal treasury. These efforts were stopped but the house refused to accept the recommendations of the administration for decreases in expenditure. It forced increased expenditure upon the government. It is not now the party of economy in public expenditure."

"The Republican party stands today as the safeguard against a series of measures which would drive this country from the foundations which 150 years of constructive building has wrought. In a peculiar way the state of Maryland has stood for the maintenance of these traditions for the upholding of progress based upon these views; it has never departed from. Both the interest and sentiment of this state can find its satisfaction alone in a national Republican administration."

S.A. MERCHANTS IN OPPOSITION TO HANDBILLS

In an effort to stop the practice of throwing advertising pamphlets on the doorsteps of Santa Ana homes, the Santa Ana Merchants' association, recently the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce, has protested against the practice to police department. It was stated today by A. Cavalli, manager of the association.

According to Cavalli, there is an ordinance on the city statute books which prohibits this form of publicity. Lately, Cavalli said, several well known merchants of Santa Ana have been using this form of publicity to reach the homes.

"It is nothing but a 'throwaway' method and cannot do our merchants any good," Cavalli declared. "One will find thousands of these circulars all over the sidewalks and cluttering up porches of homes that are not occupied. Our ordinance specifically states that such circulars must be delivered to the front door of a home and given to the occupant; not thrown on the front porches to be blown away or picked up at a later date. Police Chief Floyd Howard has promised the cooperation of his department to see that the ordinance is enforced."

The woman gave the name of Margaret Bresnahan, 28, of Ventura. She claimed, officers said, that her husband had deserted her and she was looking for him. A few minutes later she was booked. James Bresnahan, 42, decorator of 4310 Ventura Canyon road, Ventura, called the sheriff's office, learned that the woman was in jail and said he would appear at the jail immediately. When he did, he too was locked up, pending an investigation.

The child was placed in a home.

Charles M. Buxton Appendix Victim

Charles M. Buxton, 31 son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Buxton of 1422 West Third street, Santa Ana, died today after having been operated on for appendicitis three weeks ago. His father, C. B. Buxton, is a well known real estate broker here. Notice of the date and hour of funeral services will be announced later by the Smith and Tutthill Funeral home.

ing today, presumably to discuss the unemployment situation as well as the new French arms plan. The seriousness of the situation was emphasized in yesterday's rioting around Trafalgar Square, when an abortive attempt was made to move on Buckingham Palace, residence of the royal family, as well as upon the government buildings in Whitehall. It was estimated at least 30 were injured in Sunday's disturbances. Most of them suffered lacerations and bruises. Two were seriously hurt.

Events started peacefully enough when out of town hunger marchers began their second mass demonstration, marching in two columns of 2500 each, headed by mounted police and interspersed with foot police, toward Trafalgar Square, in the center of London. It was a cold, blustery, rainy afternoon.

The marchers took their position by the tall monument commemorating Admiral Nelson's victory in the Battle of Trafalgar. Spokesmen harangued the crowd from the foot of the monument, beside the famous stone lions symbolic to every British mind of the strength of the empire. Shouts were raised of "Down with the means test," "Down with the national government," "We are prisoners of class warfare."

UNEMPLOYED GROUP ENJOYS MASK PARTY

More than 400 attended the Halloween masquerade party which was staged for members of the Unemployed Association of Santa Ana and their families at the unemployed headquarters on North Main street Saturday night.

Games and dancing were enjoyed during the evening, as well as the stunts, including fortune telling, crystal ball and other entertainment features. Orange juice was served.

Dick Flemming acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Ellen Tolan was in charge of the event, assisted by John Huse.

Open Letter To Charles D. Van Wyk

In Saturday's Register appeared an advertisement for which you personally are responsible, although the advertisement was not written by you. It was written by a man hired by you. This man's employment, judging by this particular ad, which is announced as a series, is to be that of a hired assassin. He is hired to assassinate my character, by whatever means he can concoct; to assassinate my reputation in the low and unforfeitable methods of the anonymous letter writer.

This ad in Saturday's Register bears no signature. Though attacking me unfairly and dishonestly, you do not yourself dare to sign the statement. Neither does the man who has been hired by you to write your vilifications for you sign it. The ad is merely signed "Friends and Supporters of Chas. D. Van Wyk for Supervisor."

As man to man, Mr. Van Wyk, why don't you yourself sign the advertisements attacking me? Are you afraid they are libelous, untruthful and unbecoming of a candidate for the responsible office of county supervisor?

That advertisement is meant to mislead the public. That, I believe, in itself is reason enough for fair-minded voters to turn against you. The public has the right, Mr. Van Wyk, to be dealt with honestly.

To illustrate, I will take a few of the highlights from your anonymous ad: First, it says you propose to investigate my claims for infallibility of judgment. I have never made any such claim, and you know it. No public official is infallible, of course. Mistakes will be made. What the public has a right to do is to select the man least likely to make mistakes, the one whose experience and sincerity, whose sympathy for the common people as well as the taxpayer, are most likely to produce a maximum of good results. When you say I make such a claim you are trying to put me in a false light. You are trying to make the voters think I am bumptious and boastful, and reckless in my use of language. Your accusation in that regard, as you well know, is unjust.

Second, you say: "An outstanding characteristic of this candidate was clearly demonstrated in one instance, less than a year ago, when he declared the passage of a bond issue for unemployment relief, and at the same time predicted it would be necessary for the county to issue tax anticipation warrants if the bond issue were not passed." This paragraph is the crux of your advertisement attacking me. Here we have the one outstanding paragraph presented by you and your hired assassin. What's the truth?

Mr. Van Wyk, at no time, at no place did I advocate the passage of a bond issue for unemployment relief. The proposal for a bond issue for unemployment relief was made at a meeting of citizens invited to a conference with the board of supervisors. Those present voted in favor of asking the board of supervisors

Assailing what he termed the former county auditor's unfairness to Santa Ana in the matter of delinquent tax penalties, which he said had cost the city some $18,000, and charging that his opponent had belatedly adopted items from his own platform in an attempt to "ride in" on the public sentiment which he had helped to crystallize in behalf of these items, Chas. D. Van Wyk has endeavored the Santa Ana supervisor race by carrying his campaign to the door of his opponent, W. C. Jerome.

The first "hot shot" of the campaign was fired by Van Wyk in speaking before a group of taxpayers and labor leaders Friday evening in the assembly hall of the Hill building, when a comparison was made of the former county auditor's record and attitude while in office, and his recently stated platform as a candidate for supervisor.

Outlines Beliefs

"As in the recent primary, I am still asking the voters' support on a platform of tax reduction," said Van Wyk, "also a fair distribution of gasoline tax funds to the municipalities, including Santa Ana; Orange county work for our Orange county people, and all possible unemployment relief through diversion of present funds law enforcement and a pledge that if the Wright Act be repealed, I will fight for county laws to enable local officers to enforce the Eighteenth amendment so long as it is in the constitution; and as an independent candidate not aligned with any bank or political group or clique, and will maintain an open mind and an accessible office for the benefit of all citizens at all times."

"On the other hand, my opponent, during the primary campaign declared in public statements that he was content to allow his past record to speak for him, and to seek election to the office of supervisor on that record of handling one hundred million dollars from 1914 to 1930."

Goes After Opponent

"That record was not conducive to economy in government. Neither was it a record of particular consideration for the needs and desires of Santa Ana, which he is now desirous of representing as supervisor. Yet now, at this late date, we find him attempting to get votes by adopting the items of my platform and issuing them as his own, with the pretense that he has stood thus at all times.

"If he pretends to stand for economy now, why did he recently urge an increase in the Santa Ana city tax rate to raise additional funds for the chamber of commerce; why did he favor the Santa Ana boulevard; why did he urge an unemployment bond issue less than a year ago; and why did he use taxpayers' time three years ago to campaign for a $15,000,000 dam bond issue, when three of the county's best engineers have since reported that better dams could be built for five million dollars less money? If he can justify his present claim for economy in the light of this past record, I would like to see it."

"During Mr. Jerome's incumbency as county auditor, and while he was handling $100,000,000, Santa Ana citizens paid some $500,000 in gasoline taxes into the county treasury, and Santa Ana taxpayers paid more than $300,000 more as a county good roads tax, a total of $1,800,000 which the first district paid for roads. To date just $56,000 has been returned to us, leaving Santa Ana's good roads bill, in all other parts of the county except Santa Ana, some $1,300,000. That's the net cost to us, after deducting the $56,000 which the supervisors were generous enough to return to our own use."

About Gas Tax

"The allocation of gasoline tax funds is entirely in the hands of the board of supervisors, and I assure you I will not hide behind the skirts of the League of Municipalities in this matter as my opponent has done. I will fight for Santa Ana's fair share of the gas tax money as a matter of justice; Mr. Jerome, it seems would hold that he would be powerless to make such a fair distribution until compelled to do so by state law."

"Probably the most costly item in Mr. Jerome's administration of the county auditor's office, so far as Santa Ana is concerned, was the matter of delinquent tax penalties paid by taxpayers of Santa Ana. Mr. Jerome took the position that Santa Ana was not entitled to such monies, and Santa Ana city officials were bluffed out until last year, when suit was filed and a judgment for $15,023.79 was returned by the superior court in favor of Santa Ana, while $15,000 more was lost to Santa Ana through the statute of limitations. In addition, Auditor Jerome had never even segregated these funds, and it was necessary for Santa Ana and other cities to spend some $3000 to a private auditing firm to audit the auditor's books and ascertain the amounts of tax penalties paid in over the 15 years."

"The county paid the judgment to Santa Ana and it was used to pay unemployed workers on the Santa Ana Bowl project. But it is reported to me that Mr. Jerome still maintains Santa Ana was not entitled to the money and that if he had still been auditor of the county, he would have further fought Santa Ana's claims by appealing to a higher court. Standing upon this record, my opponent now asks the very city whose interests he opposed, to elect him as its supervisor!"

Prediction Fails

"In the unemployment crisis last winter, Mr. Jerome urged a bond issue and declared if a bond issue were not floated, the county would be issuing tax anticipation warrants before the end of the fiscal year, ending last July 1. Yet the county ended the year with a surplus and did not issue any tax anticipation warrants. While pledging himself to aid in relieving unemployment, my opponent, in the next breath, declared that no direct promises could be made and that all a supervisor can do at this time is to 'co-operate with agencies of the county already existing,' whatever that means."

"I cannot agree with a recent statement made by Mr. Jerome that in his opinion, Orange county 'was drier under local option than it is today. I do not believe that, and I defy him to prove it.' 'I am campaigning solely as a citizen and taxpayer of the first district, with no entangling alliances with present board members, or any other group. I believe there have been too many such entanglements in the past for the best interests of Santa Ana. I want to be elected so I can give Santa Ana free and independent representation and to get for Santa Ana the fair break in county affairs to which we are entitled. For myself, I'm getting tired of seeing the board dominated from some smaller towns clear outside of Santa Ana.'"

Oven Dinner At Cooking School

An oven dinner will be demonstrated by Miss Margaret Strout at the cooking class at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Southern California Gas company auditorium on West Second street, roasted potatoes, squash and corn scallop, green vegetable salad, peanut butter bread and ground orange and raisin pudding. The new automatic clock range will be demonstrated during this class session.

Joseph P. Kennedy gave $15,000, a sum which was matched by Morton L. Schwartz of New York. Harvey C. Cough of Pine Bluff, Ark., a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, contributed $1500. His superior on the corporation's board, former Senator W. Atlee Pomeroy, gave $100. Former Governor Harry Floyd Byrd of Virginia, contributed $500 to the Roosevelt campaign and Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, of Washington, gave $500. Charles H. Sablin, prominent in the anti-prohibition activity, contributed $1000.

Other leading contributors were M. Leo Benedum of Pittsburgh, $10,000; Vincent Astor, New York, $10,000; Percy S. Straus, New York, $15,000; C. V. Whitney, New York, $5000; Robert W. Bingham, New York, $5000; James A. Moffett, New York, $5000; Eleanor Patterson, Washington, D. C., $1000; Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, New York, $5000; Edward S. Harkness, New York, $5000; Mayor Anton J. Cermak, Chicago, $1000; Fred Fabst, Milwaukee, $1000; John W. Davis, New York, $500.

W. Sheehan, Hollywood, Calif., $2000; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Albany, $200; Joseph P. Tumulty, Washington, $1000; A. Mitchell Palmer, Stroudsburg, Pa., $100; New York Democratic committee, $10,000; Harry M. Warner and his brothers, $5000; Amen G. Carter and Amos G. Carter Jr., Fort Worth, Tex., $1000 each; T. E. Bragg, New York, $10,000; Col. Jacob Ruppert, New York, $3000; George E. Ruppert, $2000; Robert T. Jones, Atlanta, Ga., $100; former governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, $2000; William K. Vanderbilt, New York, $1000; Samuel Untermyer, New York, $10,000.

Loans totaling $55,000 were received from Joseph P. Kennedy, New York, $50,000; the Finance Division Chicago Democratic National committee, $20,000; Wayne Johnson, New York, $5000; David H. Morris, New York, $5000; Henry Morgenthau, New York, $5000.

While the exact cost of Governor Roosevelt's western and southern trips has not been computed the report estimates it would be slightly in excess of $30,000.

DEPUTIES RAID TUSTIN HOUSE. FIND LIQUOR

Sheriff's officers found 80 gallons of wine and whiskey concealed under the floor of the home of Selma O'Tero, Tustin woman, in a raid on her home yesterday afternoon. The woman was not at home at the time, however, and has not been arrested.

The O'Tero woman was arrested in the recent county wide liquor raid conducted here by sheriff's officers and federal agents and is now paying installments on a fine given her, sheriff's officers said. The liquor was found under the cupboard. There was a 90 year old blind woman at the home at the time officers conducted the raid, who interfered with the police, they said, but she was not arrested.

CHALLENGE OF VYE ACCEPTED FOR DEBATE

J. A. Beck of Balboa, secretary of the state senate, today publicly accepted a challenge to debate conflicting claims concerning the record of State Senator N. T. Edwards, in answer to the challenge which was issued by John A. Vye of Fullerton, write-in candidate who is seeking to succeed Senator Edwards.

Following is the letter of acceptance which was dated Saturday:

"Replying to your challenge as published in today's Register; since the matter in dispute is one of fact rather than opinion, might it not be wise for us to present our arguments before a committee, which could refer to the printed records and make a report stating its findings; a report committee to be composed of the members of your community, or representatives of the Orange County Bar association, or the Orange County Board of Strategy. To be of any value their report should be made and given to the press immediately.

"If you prefer a public debate, I will meet you at 7:30 p. m., Friday, November 4 or the night following at such place in Santa Ana as you may designate, on the subject, 'Resolved: That the Circular Published by John A. Vye, Attacking the Legislative Record of Senator Nelson T. Edwards is Inaccurate and Misleading.' I taking the affirmative and each of us being allowed 30 minutes. Since you will furnish the auditorium, I will supply, as my contribution, a large alarm clock which may be placed upon the chairman's table with its face toward the audience, set to ring at the termination of our allotted periods. Let it be agreed that either of us running over time shall be fined $5 a minute; the fund thus secured to be divided equally among members of the audience at the conclusion of the debate."

Made entirely of sugar, a large reproduction, in colors, of the Ben Hur chariot race was a feature of the recent Confectioners and Bakers Exhibition in London.

Accident Verdict Returned by Jury

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury at the McAulay and Suters parlors in Fullerton this morning in the case of John C. Gage, of Fuller Park, who was fatally injured in a fall from a tree Saturday morning.

Funeral services for Mr. Gage were held this afternoon. Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Neva Gage; three children living at home, a sister, Mrs. Robert Taylor, and a cousin, Mrs. T. M. Steele, of Fullerton.

GETS TERM IN JAIL ON DRUNK DRIVING COUNT

Two men, arrested over the week end on charges of driving cars while under the influence of liquor, were in court here today. One was sent to jail for 90 days and the other was fined and given a suspended jail sentence.

C. W. Wahl, 57, of 87 Court street, Buena Park, was arrested by California Highway Patrol Officers Horace Inge and Ben Craig yesterday afternoon, after his car is said to have collided with something. He pleaded guilty before Justice Kenneth Morrison and was sentenced to three months.

Officers could not say what the Wahl car hit. It was dented at the front, but whether it was another car they could not say.

Gabriel Elisanda, 21, arrested on a charge of driving drunk, pleaded guilty to reckless driving after the charge was reduced, and was given a 90 days suspended jail sentence on condition that he pay $200 fine. He went back to jail, unable to pay the fine. He was arrested by City Motorcycle Officer George Boyd and State Officer Oscar Kelly near here yesterday afternoon.

Elisanda's companion at the time, Reto Fergero, 28, of Santa Ana, was held on a drunk charge and will face the city court this afternoon.

280 MOTORISTS ARRESTED FOR FAULTY LIGHTS

The Orange county squad of state police, headed by Captain Henry Meehan, yesterday started its annual drive against glaring and inefficient headlights.

As a result 280 drivers of cars were given arrest slips, police reporting that approximately 20 per cent of all cars stopped showed inefficient lights.

The arrest slips do not necessitate the appearance of the drivers in court if the lights are repaired within five days. After that time, they do.

That lights are in the worst condition this year than at any time in the past several years was indicated in the first tests made, and as a result, state officers probably will work each night of the week, somewhere in the county, it was said.

TRANSIT FIRM EMPLOYEES ON HONOR ROLL

Employees of the Motor Transit company working out of Santa Ana, Saturday turned in 100 per cent in pledges to the welfare and relief fund of the Community Chest, thus adding another evidence of the appreciation shown by employed men and women of the needs of their less fortunate neighbors.

Barry McPhee, chairman of the utility and transportation employees department of the Community Chest appeal, declared that before the end of the week that it is probable that all of the firm employees represented within his division will have duplicated the Honor Roll record of the Motor Transit company.

Outstanding as doing a full share in the appeal this year, have been employee groups and branch houses, records at campaign headquarters show. Almost without exception the firm subscriptions from companies having branches in Santa Ana, have been higher this year than in the past.

Although many branch houses have not yet reported their pledges, it is the expectation of W. M. Wells, chairman, that all will have done a liberal part for the appeal by the time it is closed. Delay here is explained by the fact that in a good many instances subscriptions have to come from home offices in eastern cities or in the north.

Increase Pledges
"Again may we ask that people able to do so, volunteer to increase original pledges which may have been made," W. J. Tway, Chest president, said today. "Also it is possible that some persons willing to aid the relief and welfare fund may have thus far been misled by solicitors and where this is the case we would greatly appreciate their calling headquarters and we will have someone call and get their subscription."

"The work in the residential department has unfortunately had a good many setbacks this year and is still a long way from being completed. During the present week a large army of volunteers will continue the house-to-house calls in an effort to bring in enough pledges to make the quota necessary to this division of the appeal."

Throughout the week all of the divisions and departments of the campaign will hold report meetings and then will make a clean-up coverage of their territories, as the important thing now is said to be securing of a great many additional pledges.

"With around $21,000 still necessary to be raised if the fund is to be attained, it is obvious that all of our volunteers have a lot of work ahead of them and we are in hopes that all citizens will make the work as light as possible by making their subscriptions without further delay," Tway declared.

"As a matter of fact the workers this year have been giving a great deal of their time to carrying for this community job and they have stuck to it in spite of a great many discouragements, so that we all owe them a vote of thanks."

Australia's Permanent Building Congress is aiding in the revival of building by active efforts to overcome such obstacles as heavy taxation, lack of mortgage credit and a poor system of home financing, which have handicapped the industry for six years.

WING—Funeral services are to be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Gilgely funeral chapel in Orange for Mrs. Caroline Wing, 85, who passed away last night at her home, 230 North Batavia street, that city, after a long illness. ARREST BALBOA MAN AFTER POLICE RAID

Sheriff's officers, together with Newport Beach police last night raided a pool hall at 137 Main street, Balboa and arrested Thomas H. McDonald, proprietor, lodging him in the county jail on a charge of possession of liquor.

Orlando and a half gallons of whiskey was found under a counter in the place, officers said. McDonald will be turned over to federal officers, sheriff's officers said.

The officers making the raid were Art Ellis, chief criminal deputy sheriff, Deputy Sheriff E. E. Perry and E. T. Nickels and Police Officer Calhoun, the latter of Newport Beach.

CONGRESS MAN ENDORSES SAM COLLINS' RACE

Phil D. Swing is for Sam L. Collins for congressman. A written statement to that effect was received by the Collins campaign headquarters here today and is on file in their offices. It was announced, Collins is the Republican nominee.

Swing, who represents the Southern California counties in congress now, is widely known for his sponsorship in the house of the Swing-Johnson boulder canyon dam bill. He has served many terms in congress and at his last election he had no formidable opposition.

"You are young enough and intelligent enough to go to congress and make a fine record," Swing wrote Collins.

"It takes time to work up to positions of importance and responsibility, so if your constituents are wise they will return you as long as you are willing to serve them," he wrote.

ARREST RANCHER ON POSSESSION CHARGE

J. C. Davis, Jr., 35, a rancher, of Vista, near Oceanside, was today in the county jail, booked for investigation of a felony, following his arrest at San Clemente last night for possession of liquor.

Harry Comber, of San Clemente, police, made the arrest finding several gallon bottles of liquor in the car, it was reported.

THREE GRANTED PROBATION ON FELONY COUNTS

Three prisoners who had either pleaded guilty to or been convicted of felony counts were granted probation Friday by Superior Judge James L. Allen and one man accused of violation of his modified parole was ordered returned to jail to fulfill the original terms of his probation.

Christopher Houglund, who recently pleaded guilty to driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was granted probation for two years providing he spend six months in the county jail. His driver's license was suspended. Joe Chavez, guilty of possession of a still was placed on probation for a period of three years. The first six months of his probationary period must be spent in the county jail.

Fred Mullins who pleaded guilty in October 1931 to a charge of receiving stolen property was ordered returned to jail for the period of his probation. Mullins, on October 16, 1931, was granted probation for three years providing he spend one year in jail. On May 2, 1932, his probation was modified allowing his immediate release from jail. One of the requirements of his probation was that he refrain from the use of intoxicants. October 2 last he was rearrested on a liquor charge. Under the court ruling he was returned to jail to serve approximately six months remaining of the jail term imposed in his original probation order.

POSTPONE HEARING OF ARTHUR B. MAAS

Postponement of Arthur B. Maas' preliminary hearing in Judge A. W. Swayze's court to December 5 instead of November 3 was made today on request of the man's attorney, Stanley Viel, of Los Angeles.

Maas, who is charged with obstructing a public officer in discharge of his duties, is demanding a jury trial. He figured in the recent automobile crash near Orange when three Orange students were killed. Maas is alleged to have taken Rolf Von Eckartberger from the scene after the latter's car had crashed with the automobile in which the students were riding.

MRS. R. KIMBERLIN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Kimberlin, 87, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 13 years, died at her home, 616 South Main street, yesterday.

She is survived by her husband, R. S. Kimberlin three daughters, Mrs. Lora Archer of Norwalk; Mrs. V. H. Blocker of Hondo, Texas; and Mrs. Laura Looney of Santa Ana; and one son, Samuel B. Kimberlin of this city.

Mrs. Kimberlin was a native of Texas and her husband had been a rancher in Texas before moving here 13 years ago. The couple had been married 66 years at the time of her death.

Announcement of time of funeral services will be made later by the Harrell and Brown funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street.

M'KINNEY SPEAKS ON PROHIBITION

B. Z. McKinney, Democratic candidate for congress, made four speeches on the prohibition question Sunday before church audiences in Orange county and San Bernardino county.

In the morning he made an appearance before the entire Sunday school of the First M. E. church, Santa Ana, it being necessary to transfer the meeting to the main auditorium of the church to accommodate the audience.

Later in the forenoon he spoke before the First M. E. church, of La Habra.

In the afternoon he addressed a church gathering near Upland and in the evening spoke before an audience at the United Presbyterian church, of Santa Ana.

PROPOSITIONS ON VOTE LIST ARE ATTACKED

Painting a vivid picture of the disastrous conditions which would exist if the Wright act is repealed in California at the election November 8, Dr. S. T. Montgomery, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, addressed the congregation at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning.

The speaker characterized both propositions No. 1 and 2 on the ballot as "extremely vicious." If the two measures are adopted, he said, it will open the state wide for depredations and depredations of bootleggers and gangsters.

"We found," he said, "that while some people could drink without causing other people trouble, that as a whole in this machine age we could not protect the lives, limbs and safety of the bulk of the people if we did not prohibit the traffic in the drug alcohol."

The speaker quoted actual facts to prove that the death rate per car in the United States was far less than in that of drinking nations.

Proposition No. 2, the speaker pointed out, would take away the right of local option because the exclusive right of control of the liquor situation is granted to the state. He said every grocer or druggist could sell beer with no one to stop them if the proposition was passed and national dry laws altered.

SCHEDULE TWO MEETINGS FOR SERVICE MEN

Two meetings of the Republican Service League will be held in Santa Ana this week. It was announced today by George Kellogg, assistant secretary of the state organization.

Wednesday noon at Ketter's cafe here, the Santa Ana council of the Republican Service League will hold a meeting. Lloyd Banks, speaker, will preside.

Friday night, at the Santa Ana cafe, the county council will stage another of the weekly series of meetings. Next Monday evening, a final mass meeting of all veterans will be held at the Santa Ana cafe when District Attorney Burton Pitts of Los Angeles, Allen Dixie or John Quinn will be speakers of the evening.

Republican veterans who do not attend the county council meeting were requested by Kellogg to meet in Santa Ana and march in the torchlight parade of the Republican mass meeting Friday night when Ed Trefz will be the featured speaker.

Last Friday evening a large group of Orange county veterans and Auxiliary members met at the Santa Ana cafe where they were addressed by Ray Smith, past commander of Anaheim Legion post and prominent member of the 40 and 8, by E. Neal Ames, past commander of the United Veterans of the Republic and by Mrs. Margaret Kaeding, past department commander at the American Legion Auxiliary.

Margaret Kaeding, in a brief talk, gave some personal views of President Hoover, whom she said her husband had worked with in many lands as an engineer. She urged the support of veterans to Hoover.

Ames made a strong appeal for the support of Hoover. He said that the bonus payment question was being used as a political football. The speaker declared that the question of beer should not have been elected into the presidential campaign. He stressed the economic improvement program which had been started by Hoover, and warned against retarding progress by "changing horses."

In a brief talk, Smith appealed to the veterans to give their unqualified support to Hoover.

Brea Pupils In Hallowe'en Party

BREA, Oct. 31.—The fifth grade of the Brea grammar school, Miss Ethel Eastham, teacher, held a Hallowe'en party after school on Friday afternoon on the lawn of the school grounds.

Those having charge of the arrangements were Robert Runyan, Clifton Slayton, Norma Strickland, Lois Reed, Wilma Williams and Esther Mathews.

CITES HISTORY OF TARIFF ON CITRUS; TELLS NEED FOR ELECTING REPUBLICANS

By ARTHUR E. BENNETT

(Editor's Note.—Mr. Bennett has been a citrus grower in Southern California for 40 years and spent 30 years of that time in Orange county. He served on the board of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange for nine years. He also is a director of the Smart and Final company, of this city.)

The United States electorate is in the midst of the quadrennial excitement of a presidential election and is now entering the last phase of that event. The people now have enough of campaign hokey, campaign slogans and campaign lies. They are sobering down and giving serious thought to the real issues of the campaign preparatory to discharging the great responsibilities of voting.

I have never been a politician in any sense of the word. Over a period of 40 years my principal interest has been in the citrus industry and I have seen many ups and downs in the business. I could not be true to myself, my fellowgrowers, the laborers in our orchards and packing houses and the business interests supported by the industry if I did not at this time relate how the tariff has affected the industry in that period. Let us consider lemons for example.

Lemon Tariff Schedules

Democratic administration, 1893 to 1897, tariff 16 cents a box; Democratic administration, 1913 to 1921, tariff 25 cents a box; Republican administration, 1897 to 1909, tariff 70 cents a box; Republican administration, 1909 to 1913, tariff $1.05 a box; Republican administration, 1921 to 1926, tariff $1.40 a box; Republican administration, 1926 to 1932, tariff $1.75 a box.

Uniformly the periods of prosperity and expansion in the citrus industry have been under a Republican tariff and extended periods of low prices for citrus fruits have been under a Democratic tariff, with the exception of that part of the Wilson administration when the World war completely shut off foreign importations. Indelibly stamped on my memory is the financial troubles of lemon growers under the Cleveland administration with a duty of 16 cents a box. Not many lemons were raised in California then but even so there was no market for them as the Sicilian lemons had the market due to lower costs of production and transportation. At this time I personally know owners of many splendid full bearing lemon orchards who would have been glad to sell at $500 per acre, in some cases less than the value of the bare land. Again in the early part of the Wilson administration, with a tariff of 25 cents a box, the lemon industry faced ruin when the World war intervened to stop importations of lemons and the industry again prospered.

Comparative Figures
The figures given below were compiled from a report of the California Citrus League.

Table showing average cost of labor, California and Sicily:
Orchard laborers, pickers, packers, boxmakers, California, $4 per day; orchard laborers, pickers, packers, boxmakers, Sicily, $1 per day.

Table showing cost of delivering California lemons, 1927:
Production and picking, per box, $1.178; hauling to packing house, storing, packing, per box, 56 cents; marketing and advertising, per box, 14.3 cents; freight and refrigeration, per box, $1.293. Total cost laid down in New York, per box, $4.136.

The costs as stated above do not provide for any return to the grower on his capital investment.

Production and picking, per box, $2.77; hauling, packing and lightering, per box, 58 cents; ocean freight, per box, 54 cents; expenses of exporting and importing, per box, 31.25 cents; importers commission, 3 per cent per box, 11.45 cents. Total cost laid down in New York, per box, $2.327.

California cost laid down in New York, per box, $4.136; Italian cost, not including duty, per box, $2.327. Difference in favor of Italy, $1.809.

Protection Required
It is apparent that in order for the lemon industry in California to survive it must be given protection based upon the difference in the cost of production and delivery between California and Italian lemons laid down in the Seaboard markets of the United States. We now have that protection of $1.75 per box. But how are we to maintain it?

History shows conclusively that we have not, in the past, had that protection when the Democrats were in power and the Democratic platform declares for a reduction in tariff rates and Mr. Roosevelt in campaign speeches stands squarely on that platform and declares that the tariff must be reduced. The highest duty ever placed on lemons under a Democratic administration was 35 cents a box; no protection at all. When our fruit growers petitioned congress, in 1921, for relief from this ridiculous rate, just five Democrats in the lower house and three Democrats in the upper house voted for it.

Can any one imagine with the Democrats in control in the White House and in congress next year, that we could convert those five votes in the lower house and three votes in the upper house into a majority? Make no mistake, if there is a general reduction in tariff rates, lemons, oranges and grapefruit will get theirs, along with other products of California soil.

According to the figures of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange the delivered value of our citrus fruit crop in 1931 was $145,000,000. After paying the freight rate, $100,000,000 came right here in Southern California from east of the Rockies. This one hundred million dollars benefits all of the people, growers, laborers, merchants, industrialists and professional men. As William May Garland has said, "it falls like a shower of gold to benefit us all. Remove the present tariff and this golden shower will not turn west from the Atlantic Seaboard but will put out to sea to fall on the shores of the Mediterranean."

Unless we are prepared to accept the Democratic proposal for a reduction in the tariff and adopt the living standards of Southern Europe we must vote to keep the Republican party in power.

WARMER TAKES STAND AGAINST CANDIDATES

Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor of the First M. E. Church, announced from his pulpit yesterday that he was going to vote for Norman Thomas for president, as a protest against both the Republican and Democratic candidates, their platforms, their line-ups, and their attitudes upon various matters. He said he would vote for Bob Shuler for United States senator; declared that Senator Edwards would be elected; that he should vote for B. Z. McKinney for congress, and Charles Van Wyk for the board of supervisors.

Dr. Warmer took for his general subject prohibition, gave a mass of statistics and figures, calculated to show the advantages of prohibition, and then took up the question of candidates. He said that his telephone had been ringing incessantly for a day or two with persons wanting to know where he stood, and he said he was going to make a statement in the pulpit, not to advise other people how to vote, but to express his own judgment as to where he must cast his ballot.

Gives Reasons
In doing so, he called attention to the attitude of Franklin Roosevelt on the liquor question, his associates and line-ups, and said that it was utterly impossible to support him.

He then said that the Republican platform offered no more hope than the Democratic, and neither did the president. He said that his line-ups were the same; that he had appointed nearly all the members of this cabinet from the "wet" group; that he had appointed the Wickham commission all "wet" but two; that he had entrusted the drawing of the platform, and sent men to represent him in the national convention who are entirely "wet"—Ogden Mills and Walter Brown, and declared that he could not vote for him.

He said there were left two possible candidates to vote for as a protest, one being William D. Upshaw on the Prohibition ticket, who he said is crippled physically, and not equal to the task mentally. The other was Norman Thomas on the Socialist ticket, an ex-Presbyterian minister. Dr. Warmer declared he was going to vote for Thomas as a protest.

For Shuler-McKinney
He then declared for Rev. Robert P. Shuler, and said that while he did not fill the bill in many respects, he believed he was an honest man, and they needed honest men at Washington.

He declared that B. Z. McKinney had repudiated the plank in the Democratic platform on prohibition, and stood openly and strongly for prohibition. Dr. Warmer declared that he had found on investigation, in the other counties, that he stood there in the same way as he did here. He said his intention, therefore, was to vote for McKinney.

He said that Senator N. T. Edwards he believed would be re-elected without any question, as the primaries had demonstrated that, and gave the impression that he was for Senator Edwards.

In respect to assemblyman, he said it made no difference as to which one the voters voted for.

For the board of supervisors, he declared he knew Charles Van Wyk very well, knew his ability as a director of the Walnut Growers' association, said that he admired the position he had taken upon the "dry" question, and would vote for him.

JUDGE GRANTS DIVORCES TO 6 PLAINTIFFS

Superior Judge James L. Allen Friday granted six decrees of divorce, three on pleas of desertion, one for failure to provide and the other two on charges of cruelty.

Mrs. Lida Wool was divorced from her husband Ralph E. Wool, when she told the court that her husband deserted her February 7, 1931. They were married November 22, 1920, in Santa Ana.

Charles O. Hobbs was granted a decree of divorce from Mrs. Grace B. Hobbs on his statement that after three months and 21 days of married life his wife left him and has never returned. The Hobbs were married in Ventura September 6, 1930 and separated December 27, 1930.

Warren Cady deserted his wife Mrs. Emily Cady, September 1, 1930 at Huntington Beach, according to her testimony in court, upon which she was granted a divorce decree. The Cadyes were married August 20, 1929.

Mrs. Gladys Story was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Fred W. Story, custody of the couple's child and $20 monthly for its support when she testified that her husband had not provided for his family with the necessities of life. The Storys were married

November 21, 1928 and separated March 15, 1932.

Mrs. Rhae Neff was granted a decree, custody of the couple's twin daughters and $50 monthly for their support upon her testimony to substantiate charges of cruelty against her husband, Maynard Neff. She also charged he refused to buy clothing and food for his family but spent his money for his own pleasure.

Ruth V. Agee was granted a divorce and custody of the couple's children on cruelty charges when she told the court that her husband James C. Agee, wrongfully accused her of being intimate with other men, threatened to kill her and was in the habit of pretending that he was dying and when she called a doctor would inform her that he was "just fooling."

Doctors Give Creosote For Dangerous Coughs

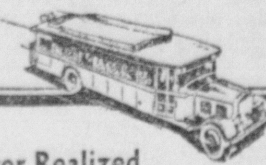

For many years our best doctors have prescribed creosote in some form for coughs, colds and bronchitis, knowing how dangerous it is to let them hang on. Creosolium with creosote and six other highly important medicinal elements, quickly and effectively stops all coughs and colds that otherwise might lead to serious trouble.

Creosolium is powerful in the treatment of all colds and coughs no matter how long standing, yet it is absolutely harmless and pleasant and easy to take.

Your own druggist guarantees Creosolium by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Creosolium as directed. Beware the cough or cold that hangs on. Always keep Creosolium on hand for instant use. (adv.)

Hunting for Tariff --- Without a Gun!

B. Z. McKinney, the Democratic candidate for congress stands for retention of the present tariff rates on agricultural products, and for a tariff of 85 cents per barrel on oil.

The question of who is elected president has nothing to do with the tariff question, so far as this particular district is concerned.

Congress decides the tariff. And the next Congress will be under Democratic control.

The congressman whom we send to Washington for our high tariff must go to a Democratic congress to get it.

Sending a Republican congressman to a Democratic congress would be like going hunting without a gun.

The district would be "all dressed up with no place to go."

Election of a Republican congressman would leave our vast citrus industry and our oil industry helpless to get the tariff protection they need.

Only a Democratic congressman could get the co-operation and favor of a Democratic congress for his tariff demands.

We Republicans who are supporting B. Z. McKinney for Congress are doing so for the sake of practical results. It is to our interest to have a representative in Congress who can get us the things we need. Partisanship must be put aside for our economic welfare. We stand for the election of

Shuler Pledges Fight In Interest Of The People

THOUSANDS AT GREAT RALLY FOR CANDIDATE

A crowd estimated at more than 3500 persons greeted the Rev. R. P. (Bob) Shuler, militant Los Angeles pastor who is a candidate for United States senator from California, when he delivered a forceful speech at Irvine park Saturday afternoon in his crusade for "free speech, human rights and economic justice."

Preceding Shuler's address, E. E. Long announced a Shuler parade for next Saturday afternoon when he will speak in Riverside. Santa Ana care are to form into line on the state highway near the fair grounds about 12:30 p. m. and join the parade to Riverside.

Shuler introduced Mayor Raymond V. Darby of Inglewood, who declared he had decided not to go hog-tied and handcuffed but was going to vote as he pleased. He gave Shuler his unqualified endorsement, as a man who will fight for the American people, because he is the only dry candidate for the office and because he said Shuler could not be controlled.

Cole Simons, of Los Angeles, recently returned from Northern California, predicted that Shuler would carry Northern California with a 250,000 majority. He introduced Shuler following his brief address.

Shuler began his address with figures on estimated votes from the various parts of California, which were optimistic.

you people, gather up billions of dollars that they did not work for or earn, out of other people's pockets and laid it away in their own. The Wall Street brokers sell wheat that never was put into the ground, threshed or put into a bin, gather up billions of dollars gambling on wheat, cotton, etc., while the farmers can't pay their taxes and their homes are taken from them.

Fight For People

"We have lost control of our government. I think there is just as much hope in one of the old parties as the other. Parties are hopeless; they are in the hands of a bunch of political racketeers who expect to get something out of every man who goes into office."

"They say that Bob Shuler, if he goes to the United States senate, will be helpless because he can't play with the Republicans or the Democrats. I am not going up there to play with the Republicans or the Democrats, or to play golf or play poker. I am going there to make a fight for the American people. If God gives me strength, I am going to represent not only one party. I am going to represent the people of the state of California."

"They ask me if I will back Mr. Hoover if he is re-elected. I shall consider that the people of America have spoken, that you have empowered him to be at the head of your nation as your president, and I shall, with all the strength of my soul, co-operate with him in everything he undertakes to do for the good of the American people. Every part of his program that is for the benefit of this nation I will undertake to do."

"If Mr. Roosevelt is elected I shall consider that the American people have spoken, that they have chosen the man they desired to run this country, and to the best of my ability, before Almighty God, I will back him in every part of his program that means good to the people of this nation, and I am the only man who can do that."

"If Mr. Hoover and Mr. McAdoo are elected, Mr. McAdoo is pledged to fight him all along the line, and if Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Tubbs are elected, it will be the same. If a Democrat goes in, the Republicans consider it is their job to get him out and to get in themselves and vice versa."

Simple Remedy

"I am an independent and not tied to either one of them. We have come where we have to lift humanity in this country. We have to stop a little bunch at the top from gathering all the money from the people as fast as they make it."

"The remedy is just as simple as A. B. C. When we bring this country back to the people and run this country in the interests of ourselves we can solve this situation. The honest man must live by the fruits of his labor. He can't do it now. My own fight has been for the interest of humanity. This is not a political

REPORT SHOWS S. A. CHILDREN IN GOOD HEALTH

Santa Ana school children are healthy. This fact is indicated by reports submitted to Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson by Dr. Murray Bates, school physician. He has submitted two reports, one covering his own activities and the other covering work of the school nurses.

Dr. Bates reporting on his work between September 10 and 30 revealed that of the 340 students examined between the opening of school and the final date on his report there were but 40 referred to physicians and dentists or specialists.

All examinations by Dr. Bates during September were conducted at the junior college and high school where 251 junior college freshmen and 89 football candidates were examined. Dr. Bates also has delivered 10 lectures at the junior college and made 47 school visits. Twenty-two students were placed on rest or restricted physical education schedules.

School nurses, during the same period made 133 visits to schools, conducted 24 class room inspections and made 498 individual inspections of students. They weighed and measured 1072 children and tested the vision of 350. First aid treatment was given 318 children.

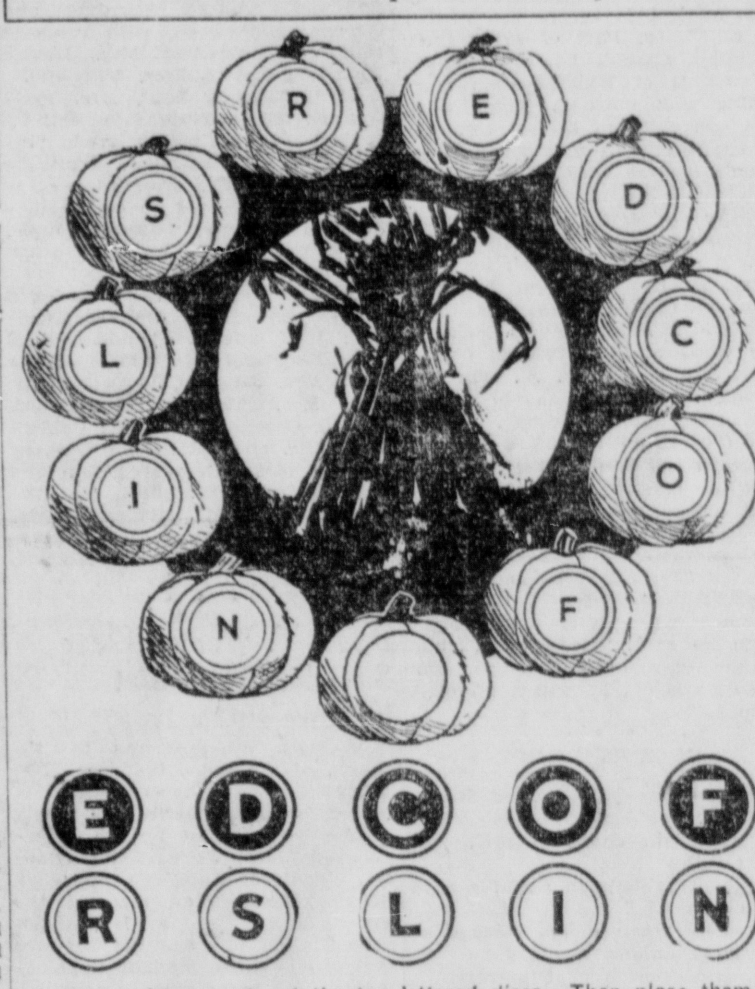

In addition to their school visits the nurses made 74 visits to the homes on health matters and seven on social problems in addition to 76 calls checking attendance.

They conducted 383 school conferences with students and 109 with parents in addition to other routine duties of their department.

International polar year observation, sponsored by the International Meteorological Commission, will be conducted this winter at Fairbanks and Point Barrow stations in Alaska.

Where Do You Find Pumpkins! In the C-O-R-N-F-I-E-L-D-S

But Can You Spell it, One Hop at a Time

With scissors, cut out the ten lettered discs. Then place them on the pumpkins which bear the corresponding letters. As you see, no letter goes on the bottom pumpkin. Now the problem is to arrange the discs so they will spell "Cornfields" when read in a clockwise direction, leaving no letter on the bottom pumpkin.

The black discs must be moved only in the direction in which a clock hand moves. The white discs must be moved only in the opposite direction—counter clockwise.

One disc may jump over one of the opposite color if there is no disc on the next pumpkin beyond. For instance, if you start by moving F, then N can jump over F. If F then moves toward I, you may jump O over N and so on. A disc cannot jump over one of its own color. The puzzle can be solved in 28 moves. Can you solve it? (Solution on page 14.)

AIR MAIL NOW FASTER UNDER NEW SCHEDULE

Air mail from Santa Ana and all Southern California cities will be speeded by a day in delivery time to all points in Northeastern, Rocky Mountain, Central, Great Lakes and Eastern states through inauguration tomorrow night of a later departure time of the Western Air Express air mail planes via Salt Lake City. It was announced today.

Although the schedule of the local post office will not be changed, according to postal authorities, delivery of mail will be speeded one day by the new departure time of the planes. Western Air Express officials announced from Los Angeles.

The night schedule will be moved up from a 7 p. m. departure at San Diego to 10:05 p. m., and an 8:25 p. m. departure at Los Angeles to 11:30 p. m. Air mail from Southern California will then be delivered at all points west of Chicago the following day and New York City the second morning.

The mail plane will deliver air mail to Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio points the day following mailing here.

The new schedule eastbound follows: Leave San Diego, 10:05 p. m.; arrive Los Angeles, 11:15 p. m.; depart Los Angeles, 11:30 p. m.; depart Las Vegas, Nev., 1:45 a. m.; arrive Salt Lake City, 6:35 a. m. (M.T.); depart Salt Lake City, 7:30 a. m. (M.T.); depart Cheyenne, 11:30 a. m. (M.T.); depart Omaha, 1:35 a. m. (C.T.); arrive Chicago 10:15 (C.T.); depart Chicago 12 midnight (C.T.); arrive New York City, 7:32 a. m. (E.S.T.).

Coincidentally with the new air mail service, a one-day transcontinental night passenger service, the first of its kind from Southern California, will be established.

CANTANDO CLUB OPENS SEASON NOVEMBER 15

Tuesday, November 15, will be the opening date of the Cantando club season, it was announced today by the board of directors of that outstanding club, dramatic organization of the community. This opening concert for which rehearsals have been in progress for several weeks, will be held in the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

The guest artist for this occasion will be Frederic Scott, dramatic tenor soloist of Los Angeles. Cantando club executives have expressed satisfaction over this success in procuring this well-known American tenor, who has achieved much success in grand opera and in musical motion pictures. During the past summer he scored in his interpretation of the character "Turkdu" in the Mascagni opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana," given in Los Angeles. Also he has sung leading roles in such motion picture successes as "The Grand Parade," "Swing High," and other musical plays.

Holders of season tickets for the Cantando club concerts have been informed that the drawing for reserved seats for the season will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Santa Ana Book store and those who have not made reservations already, should arrange to do so at that time.

The concert on this night of November 15 will launch the seventh consecutive year for the Cantando club, which has for the past half dozen years, delighted Santa Ana audiences. Ever since its founding, the club has functioned under the direction of Leon Bekles, and has had Miss Ruth Armstrong as accompanist.

An unusually high standard was set in the opening concert of its first year, and has been maintained in succeeding years until the organization has come to be recognized as one of the outstanding musical groups on the western coast, and on a par with male choruses of the largest cities, according to music lovers who have watched the development of the organization. It numbers 60 voices in its ensemble, and many fine singers are being developed.

ECONOMIST TO CONFER WITH CITRUS MEN

Seeking a definite and permanent solution to Southern California's citrus marketing problem, citrus growers of Orange county and the nine southern counties are invited to a conference in Los Angeles tomorrow. This meeting is called for the purpose of a conference between the county representatives and Dr. H. R. Wellman of the University of California. The conference will be held at 10 a. m. in the Los Angeles county farm adviser's office, 254 North Spring street.

Orange county will be represented at this conference by Dr. D. D. Wawnick, chairman of the recently appointed committee representing the nine southern counties Farm Bureau citrus departments, and others. The committee headed by Wawnick was authorized several weeks ago at a meeting of the citrus departments of the nine counties and was instructed to cooperate with Wellman in his survey of the citrus industry in California.

Wellman is undertaking the citrus survey at the request of grower and marketing organizations representing 90 per cent of the state's citrus crop. The survey was urged as the basis for a permanent production and marketing program to prevent chaos in the industry.

Allen Whiston, chairman of the Associated Citrus Growers has pledged the cooperation of his organization in the study and said "we will work hand in hand with this movement. Action of this kind is exactly what the Associated Citrus Growers have been seeking."

Protests

"The situation in which we find ourselves today is very simple to understand but complex as to the matter of its solution," he declared. "Our fathers founded a protest government—a protest against the character of government in Europe, where a little bunch of fellows hogged everything in sight."

"There is many a man in Washington now who is saying that we are electing our last president right now and that we will be having a dictator within a few years. I heard the acceptance speech of Mr. Hoover when he said that no time of more peril had faced this country since the Civil war. A few months ago Warner Brothers made $20,000,000 without doing a thing that makes humanity better or makes for prosperity. They simply juggled the stock of a movie corporation and took the people's money and put it in their pockets."

"Raskob made $500,000 in six days and did not work for or sweat a drop, or add one iota to the sum total of human benefit. Mr. Mellon held office for eight years, gathered up $500,000,000 and laid it away. The international bankers, by bringing over here worthless European paper and selling it to

PASTOR TELLS REASONS FOR SATAN'S TEST

God permits Satan to try students of the Word in order that they may remove the chaff from the wheat. The Rev. Fred A. Flora, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, told members of his congregation yesterday at the morning services of his church.

He took his text from Luke 22:31-32: "And the Lord said, Simon, behold Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat; but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not."

In his sermon he said in part: "Among the many things that even the careful student of the Word cannot fully understand is why God allows Satan to try them. That he does so is clearly stated in Scripture and also testified in human experience. In this trying, testing or fanning experience God's purpose is to remove the chaff from the wheat. God can only use His children to His highest glory when they are separated from all the chaff and stand out pure and clean."

"The process of sifting reveals the chaff, and as the world looks on often they see only the chaff but when the fanning process is over the good, pure wheat remains. God allowed Satan to test Job and though the testing was severe God was able to sustain and Job came out victorious declaring all the way through that while he did not fully understand the testing he did understand Him who was directing it all and rested in the fact that 'when He hath tried me I shall come forth as gold.'"

"Israel was tested sorely as Satan was fully set on destroying the people through whom God had promised to produce the Redeemer but God said of them in Amos 9:9, 'yet shall not the least grain fall upon the earth' thus assuring that though the chaff might blow away the wheat would every grain be saved for His glory. Satan's purpose is to blow away God's purpose is to purify and save. Jesus said to Peter, 'I have prayed for thee that thy faith fail not. Satan may only go as far as God permits and that is never to the extent of destroying the one who has His faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. May God's people today amidst the testing going on from time to time be assured of the keeping power of the Lord and understand that all such testing is for a wonderful purpose making of us what we could not be in any other way and believing with Paul that, 'He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day.'"

STATE'S HISTORY TOLD WOMAN'S CLUB

MIDWAY CITY, Oct. 31.—Early California history was discussed in interesting manner at the Midway City Woman's club meeting recently by Terry Stephenson, of Santa Ana, and by Mrs. R. P. Meares, secretary of the club, who substituted for Mrs. W. H. Taylor.

The "Sunshine Buddy" feature which is to be carried out by the club, will be taken up at the next meeting. This method of raising money is taking the place of the luncheons which were given last season.

Mrs. William Schmidt and Mrs. Birdwell, hostesses for the day, served coffee and wafers.

Nazarene Church Group Preachers To Meet Tuesday

The Orange County Group of the Church of the Nazarene Preachers' meeting will be held at the Santa Ana church, Fifth and Parton streets, Tuesday beginning at 10 a. m. with the Rev. Joseph Gray, pastor of the Brea church presiding, who will also speak at the morning session, according to the pastor, the Rev. G. E. Waddie.

The special speaker for the afternoon session will be the Rev. D. I. Vanderpool, pastor of Breese Avenue Church of the Nazarene, Pasadena. There will be a business session at 1:30 p. m. The public is invited.

CHILD RIGHTS ARE STRESSED BY REV. AKER

A sermon preached at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South, Sunday evening by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Aker, had as a text, "It is not the will of your Heavenly Father that one of these little ones should perish."

As a prelude to the discourse he read the official transcript of an address made by a juvenile judge of Orange county at the conclusion of the trial of a 15-year-old boy whom he had sentenced to the Whittier State School for Boys until he was 21 years of age, in which he said: "The only regret I have in this work of handling juvenile cases is that in 75 cases out of a hundred, I would like to send the parents to jail instead of the child and girls to reform schools."

He also said, "This is another one of those cases following the breaking up of the home. Carelessness on the part of the parents, and the little victim stands before the court to be punished."

The pastor said in part: "Of course the story of this boy is but the sad story of thousands of such cases that are sentenced monthly to penal institutions throughout the land. As free-born Americans, we speak loudly of being deprived of 'inalienable rights' in a free country. But no one has a better claim to make such an accusation than the children who have been deprived of the inalienable rights which God intended them to have. The children are more often sinned against by parents and home and school and church than they are guilty of sinning. Let us note some of the rights that every child is entitled to."

Childhood's Right
"In the first place every child has the right to be well born. But many a child is damned to a life of shame and disease in its very birth into the world. All its days, it must eat of the bitter fruit of its family tree."

"Every child is also entitled to a good home environment in which to grow to maturity. But how many homes are unfit for the raising of a child, instead of the caring of an immortal spirit made in the image of God Almighty."

"The children are also entitled to be brought up in a school in which the great character building agency of religion is emphasized and the Word of God, the great blue-print for character, is revered and taught. The public educational institutions are the offspring of the religious reformation under Luther and Calvin and the revivals under the Wesleys, but it has long since not only largely divorced itself from all religious instruction, but our children must often sit under teachers that sneer at the religion of their fathers and mothers. No wonder we are bringing up a group of atheists and infidels from which we shall reap the whirlwind."

Church Not Guiltless
"But the church is not guiltless in this matter of sinning against its children. Our Sunday school and religious educational programs are often wholly lacking in vital training in religious matters. Rufus M. Jones, a great Christian leader and educator, says, 'There are few more tragic blunders than the modern Sunday school presents.' He declares that the modern Protestant Sunday school is not nearly so effective in spiritual culture as the old Jewish Synagogue schools, and the old fashioned Catechetical Schools of our Colonial forefathers."

"So before we become too loud-mouthed in our condemnation of the sins of the rising generation we do well as parents and adults to examine our own shortcomings and see if the responsibility does not lie largely at our own doors. It is not the will of our Father in heaven that one of these little ones should perish."

PASTOR TELLS THE GREATEST THING IN LIFE

Repose or fortifying of the inner life is what all men desire, according to the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church. In his sermon yesterday at the morning service of his church he spoke on the topic, "The Greatest Thing in Life."

He said in part: "What is the greatest thing in life, that is, from the personal standpoint? What is it that you and I, and everyone else, most need? I am greatly interested in the answer given in that remarkable book, 'The Fountain.' To be invulnerable is what all men desire," says this book Katherine Tynan wants to be invulnerable when she says,

"I wish I could get the peace of the mountains into me, and not have all the world a trouble to me."

I am full of frets and fatigues, of anger and fears, I wish the mountains would teach me their secret of peace.

They have looked to God through all the days and the years. I wish I was still, like the mountains—not vexed, full of fears."

"In a recent book a prominent Boston business executive is quoted as being critical of and pessimistic about life today. He says that the phase in which we happen to have our lives is nervous, swift, confusing. And men are not willing to beat their lives out forever in such an atmosphere. They have an instinctive desire for repose."

Mean Same Thing
"I take it that these three people mean practically the same thing by being invulnerable or 'the peace of the mountains' or 'an instinctive desire for repose.' They are talking about an inward state, a fortifying of the inner life."

"The real problem shows up when we inquire how to secure this inner strength, this invulnerability. One may wish for the peace of the mountain but mere wishing will not secure it. There is a suggestion as to the way to secure invulnerability in the book already mentioned, 'The Fountain.' In this story two men meet for the first time. They are strange to each other. They feel that they have always known each other. One of them says that the feeling grows out of a common interest, and that common interest is 'our desire to control our lives that we are invulnerable within the world.' Then he quotes a saying from Turgenev as follows:

"It seems to me that to put oneself in the second place is the whole significance of life. But his friend replied, 'It seems to me that to discover what to put before oneself, in the first place, is the whole problem of life.'"

To Be Invulnerable
"I suspect that the way to secure invulnerability within the world would be a combination of these two ideas—putting oneself in the second place and discovering what to put in the first place."

"Most of us will agree that Jesus is the one person in all the world who most successfully put himself in the second place. And therefore we put Him in the first place. It is interesting to notice what it was that Jesus put in the first place. It was the will of God. 'Not my will, but thine, be done.' Can we find any better? Perhaps we ought to pause right here and think a bit about the will of God. Too long have we thought of it as some great burden, or hardship, or sorrow."

"I think of the will of God as the best that could happen and particularly the best good for the greatest number. If we have put the will of God in the first place it means that we have put there what is just and right and brotherly. It will mean that we have put first the welfare of the greatest number and not self or a select few. If we do this we will find it easy to occupy the second place. We will find that second place to be significant and glorious. And we will be on the way to become invulnerable in the world. We will have found how to get 'the peace of the mountains' into ourselves. Our 'instinctive desire for repose' will be satisfied—even within the midst of this busy, noisy world."

Christian Science

The statement of Isaiah, "Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin," constituted the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Everlasting Punishment" at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

Among the Scriptural selections in the lesson-sermon were these words from the Book of Job: "For wrath killeth the foolish man, and envy slayeth the silly one. . . I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cause. . . He disappointeth the devices of the crafty, so that their hands cannot perform their enterprise. . . Behold happiness is the man whom God correcteth."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, said: "Divine love corrects and governs man. Men may pardon, but this divine principle alone reforms the sinner."

HIGH SUMMER by Booth Tarkington

SYNOPSIS FOR PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

A "high summer" was how Mrs. Wheat described the social activities at a fashionable New England seashore resort to Ambrose Trainband, the Brendle's gardener. Mrs. Wheat, in the Brendle's kitchen and exulted in the triumphs of her employers, especially when it became generally known that Mrs. Wheat was as good as engaged to Norris Enderton, scion of the resort's social leaders. Kitty was 19 and pretty. The only thing to mar her summer had been that Joe Nutter suddenly developed a violent case of love and anger and her avoiding him and "angling" for Norris. Just after the Brendles closed the season brilliantly with a dance at the Beach club came the Wall street crash. Mr. Enderton had switched his investments to U. S. securities. Mrs. Wheat's automobile accessory factory went to smash. He had to sell his showy home in a mid-western city, mortgage his seashore cottage, sell his cars and dismiss all his servants except Mrs. Wheat, but Mr. Trainband, a monthly check throughout the winter. As the next summer season opened, Mrs. Brendle still suffered from her nervous breakdown. She had been in the hospital for 14 years old the previous year and her pride was as good as shattered. His mother was horrified to learn he had been going in for fishing on a commercial basis had been associating with the "natives." After a long wait Kitty received a letter from the very self-satisfied Norris, written in Italy.

INSTALLMENT TWENTY-THREE

Kitty read the letter, through twice; then her eyes dwelt reflectively upon various parts of it—the account of the natural mistakes of the Lugano hotel people and tourists, and the references to the princesses, "Old Show-off!" she murmured, but not bitterly; for already, at twenty, she had acquired some clear-mindedness, much the same thing as fair-mindedness in people not too self-centered. In the morning, long wait for the letter, some light had been shed upon the obscure problem of last summer. If one of her two selves had asked the other of late, "What do you want?" the reply would have been decisive, "I don't want him!"

Unconsciously both she and Norris had looked at each other through their mothers' eyes, a habit of looking still obviously prevailing with Norris, and, seeing each other thus glided, had yielded to appropriateness, that ancient impulse of families to gather and perpetuate power by uniting; the rich marry the rich. Kitty did not blame Norris for his virtual jilting of her; already she owed to misfortune too much intelligence for that. She was aware that if she had continued to look through her mother's eyes, and the loss of fortune had been Norris's, not hers, the stripping off of his Endertonian "desirableness" would not have left remaining all that she had thought to marry.

Kitty's troubles had made her at last so wise that she knew now she would never have "looked at him" if Norris had been just a handsome young nobody on a holiday at the beach, or, for instance, a clerk in one of the "Gift Shops," or—

Her train of thought was interrupted; she turned her head again to the window and looked down upon path beyond the terrace. "Golly," she said, for once again she remembered all too well an afternoon when she had stood there struggling to keep the gold leaf upon him in her mind's eye, and hating Joe Nutter for trying to make her imagine Norris as a "Gift Shop" clerk.

The recollection was vivid; almost in substance and color she seemed to see herself down there upon that path, confronting Joe—his vehement flushed face and the desperate gestures with which he mused up his hair were startlingly clear—and that was the first time she had worn the gray chiffon and the broad lace hat, wasn't it?

"Oh, go 'way!" she said to these ghosts of the long ago last summer, for all she cared about now was to become a good landscape gardener. She laughed ruefully, and rising, dropped young Mr. Enderton's letter into her wastebasket. "Only thing you could have done," she said to it, and went downstairs to brighten up her father with an account of his wife's afternoon activity in the garden.

Mrs. Brendle's trowelings had so fascinated her, in fact, that she renewed them on the following morning. Mr. Trainband bore them (and his consequent proximity to command and criticism) with as much outward calm as he could maintain. The new manner of things threatened to be permanent, at least for this summer; daily he was to be closely associated, he began to realize, with two female collaborators, and his condition was principally one of bewilderment. He was bewildered by himself that he did what he did—and he spoke of his strange state of mind to Mrs. Wheat, on the last evening of Mr. Brendle's short sea-air holiday. Mr. Trainband wiped the dinner dishes for Fluvia as he talked.

"Seems like I ain't the same man," he said self-pityingly, as he slowly dried a fine Wedgwood plate she handed him from the sink. "Else I couldn't put up with what I let myself put up with. Squashed at from mornin' till nigh to take and do this and do that and take and run here and run there and take and run here-and-there! Got the two of 'em at me, the both together, one of 'em peckin' and findin' fault on one side o' me and the other holerin' 'Hurry, git me rocks!' on the other. 'Spected to use one hand here, the other one there, and to grow a tail with a hand on the end of it to use some-wuz else! Got me so I don't git my breath long enough to utter a complaint. 'Tain't like me! Ain't myself. Seem like a man 't's had a shock.'"

"Why, no; you doin' nice," Fluvia assured him comfortingly. "Miss Kitty say she gittin' more work out o' you than you even dream o' yourself. Say she take"

great pleasure thinkin' how smart she is to do it."

"Glad to hear it," he returned modestly. "Let her take her pleasure where she finds it, if so be she's a mind to! Neb Hucken says yestiddy he heard some people wondered what the name o' goodness Brendles come back here fer this season."

"Who say it?" Mrs. Wheat asked, bridling instantly. "Who say they would'n' Brendles come back here? Who talk that-a-way? Who Ned Buckam?"

"Neb Hucken. How it come about, Neb come in Thompson's, see me, and says a person told him this other party says it seemed like the Brendles wouldn't choose to come back no more to a place where they used to put on so much style. This party says seemed funny they wouldn't go some-else where their comedown wouldn't be known on 'em."

"Who? Who this party? Who talk so big about about Brendles gittin' a comedown? Where any comedown? They think cause we 'spense with a few ill goo-gaws, an' turn off Gastan' an' some few others we had settin' round here, that mean 'a comedown'! Let 'em listen to me! I tell 'em! We showin' more class right now, 'em parties know how to handle in their whole life long! We low more money! Iss one year 'n' 'im parties go 'cumulate their whole long life; yet we got fine big cottage, good automobile in 'g'radwe, eat high an' live high an' roll high same's ever! Look at M's Brendle! Nervous breakdown! Who say she ain't show' class? Who this party? Who this big mouf Neb Duckam you tellin' so much about?"

"Neb Hucken. But he wasn't the one that said it," Mr. Trainband explained. "Cordin' to Neb, this party says she wondered why both the Brendle and Peck families come back here 'count o' their comedown, an' s'pecially in regard to how Willie Peck an' Melroy smell this season."

"Smell!" Mrs. Wheat cried fiercely. "Who talkin' about—"

"Neb didn't feel no 'greement' with her," Mr. Trainband protested defensively. "Says himself she was too tighty-tighty for him. She'd think she was! Complainin' o' smell o' fish!"

"Who? Who make that complaint of Melroy Brendle? Ed Ruckam?"

"No! His name's Neb Hucken. Way it come about, Neb comes in Thompson's, see me, an' says his brother-in-law's wife, Lida Bestwell, says this party offered to go out in Hillban's boat with Melroy and this here Willie fer fish, an', when they wouldn't let her, says she wouldn't never have another thing to do with 'em, an' complainin' of they smell of it an' says what a comedown the Brendles an' Pecks—"

"Who? Who this Libe Cesswell she talkin' so—?"

"It wasn't her," Mr. Trainband, badgered, became shrill. "This party that said it was a summer party!"

"Who? What her name?" Mrs. Wheat demanded vehemently. "What summer party been runnin' down all 'ese ice-cream families like Brendles an' Pecks an'—?"

"Mamie Fuller."

"Who?" Mrs. Wheat cried incredulously. "Mamie Fuller, Lida Bestwell takes in Fullers' washin' an' this here Mamie told her—"

"Whoee!" Mrs. Wheat startled him with the suddenness of her barbaric cackle of laughter. "Mee-mee Fuller! Name ain't even Mamie, M's Trembam. That lil ole girl ain't even got a class name! Name soun' like mouse squeakin' behind the plasterin'! 'Mee-mee! Mee-mee-mee-mee-mee! That's th way mouse go! 66-YARD MARCH WINS FOR S. A. AT SAN DIEGO

Playing their finest football of the season, the Santa Anans won from San Diego with more decisiveness than the score indicates. Receiving the kickoff, they marched 66 yards to a touchdown, then played their cards close to the vest, content to let San Diego do the worrying.

tackle, and at that point he aimed his attack. Once it would be a "power play," once a cleverly concealed reverse, but always it was movement at the same place until the ball was on San Diego's 9-yard line. Then, with the Hillers anticipating another whack at the familiar divergence, Conrad suddenly called for a reverse over the "middle" and through a wide

Kidder hit left tackle for 2. He failed to gain on a sweeping end run. Then Montgomery slithered through center and it was a touchdown, the Saint halfback running right over "Mushy" Pollock, San Diego's midget safety, at the goalline.

PASTOR TELLS REASONS FOR SATAN'S TEST

Nazarene Church Group Preachers To Meet Tuesday

The Orange County Group of the Church of the Nazarene Preachers' meeting will be held at the Santa Ana church, Fifth and Barton streets, Tuesday beginning at 10 a. m. with the Rev. Joseph Gray, pastor of the Brea church presiding, who will also speak at the morning session, according to the pastor, the Rev. G. E. Waddell.

The special speaker for the afternoon session will be the Rev. D. Vanderpool, pastor of Brea Avenue Church of the Nazarene, Pasadena. There will be a business session at 1:30 p. m. The public is invited.

CHILD RIGHTS ARE STRESSED BY REV. AKER

A sermon preached at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South, Sunday evening by the pastor, Rev. C. M. Aker, had as a text, "It is not the will of your Heavenly Father that any of these little ones should perish," Matt. 18:14.

As a prelude to the discourse he read the official transcript of an address made by a juvenile judge of Orange county at the conclusion of the trial of a 15-year-old boy whom he had sentenced to the Whittier State School for Boys until he was 21 years of age, in which he said: "The only regret I have in this work of handling juvenile cases is that in 75 cases out of a hundred, I would like to send the parents to jail instead of the boys and girls to reform schools."

He also said, "This is another one of those cases following the breaking up of the home. Carelessness on the part of the parents, and the little victim stands before the court to be punished."

The pastor said in part: "Of course the story of this boy is but the sad story of thousands of such cases that are sentenced monthly to penal institutions throughout the land. As free-born Americans, we speak loudly of being deprived of 'inalienable rights' in a free country. But no one has a better claim to make such an accusation than the children who have been deprived of the inalienable rights which God intended them to have. The children are more often sinned against by parents and home and school and church than they are guilty of sinning. Let us note some of the rights that every child is entitled to."

Childhood's Right
"In the first place every child has the right to be well born. But many a child is damned to a life of shame and disease in its very birth into the world. All its days, it must eat of the bitter fruit of its family tree."

"Every child is also entitled to a good home environment in which to grow to maturity. But how many homes are unfit for the raising of a child, instead of the raising of an immortal spirit made in the image of God Almighty."

"The children are also entitled to be brought up in a school in which the great character building agency of religion is emphasized and the Word of God, the great blue-print for building a righteous and enduring character, is revered and taught. The public educational institutions are the offspring of the religious reformation under Luther and Calvin and the revivals under the Wesleys, but it has long since not only largely divorced itself from all religious instruction, but our children must often sit under teachers that sneer at the religion of their fathers and mothers. No wonder we are bringing up a group of atheists and infidels from which we shall reap the whirlwind."

Church Not Guiltless
"But the church is not guiltless in this matter of sinning against its children. Our Sunday school and religious educational programs are often wholly lacking in vital training in religious matters. Rufus M. Jones, a great Christian leader and educator, says, 'There are few more tragic blunders than the modern Sunday school presents.' He declares that the modern Protestant Sunday school is not nearly so effective in spiritual culture as the old Jewish Synagogue schools, and the old fashioned Catechetical Schools of our Colonial forefathers."

"So before we become too loud-mouthed in the rising generation of the sins of our parents and adults to examine our own shortcomings and see if the responsibility does not lie largely at our own doors. It is not the will of our Father in heaven that one of these little ones should perish."

PASTOR TELLS THE GREATEST THING IN LIFE

Repose or fortifying of the inner life is what all men desire, according to the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church. In his sermon yesterday at the morning service of his church, he spoke on the topic, "The Greatest Thing in Life."

He said in part:

"What is the greatest thing in life, that is, from the personal standpoint? What is it that you and I and everyone else, most need? I am greatly interested in the answer given in that remarkable book, 'The Fountain.' 'To be invulnerable is what all men desire,' says this book. Katherine Tynan wants to be invulnerable when she says,

"I wish I could get the peace of the mountains into me, And not have all the world a trouble to me."

I am full of frets and fatigues, of angers and fears, I wish the mountains would teach me their secret of peace."

They have looked to God through all the days and the years. I wish I was still like the mountains—not vexed, full of fears."

"In a recent book a prominent Boston business executive is quoted as being critical of and pessimistic about life today. He says that the phase in which we happen to have our lives is nervous, swift, confusing. And men are not willing to beat their lives out forever in such an atmosphere. They have an instinctive desire for repose."

Mean Same Thing
"I take it that these three people mean practically the same thing by being invulnerable or 'the peace of the mountains' or 'An instinctive desire for repose.' They are talking about an inward state, a fortifying of the inner life."

"The real problem shows up when we inquire how to secure this inner strength, this invulnerability. One may wish for the peace of the mountain but mere wishing will not secure it. There is a suggestion as to the way to secure invulnerability in the book already mentioned, 'The Fountain.' In this story two men meet for the first time. They are strangers attracted to each other. They feel that they have always known each other. One of them says that the feeling grows out of a common interest, and that common interest is 'our desire to be invulnerable.' Our lives that are invulnerable within the world." Then he quotes a saying from Turgenev as follows:

"It seems to me that to put oneself in the second place is the whole significance of life." But his friend replied, "It seems to me that to discover what to put before oneself, in the first place, is the whole problem of life."

To Be Invulnerable
"I suspect that the way to secure invulnerability within the world would be a combination of these two ideas—putting oneself in the second place and discovering what to put in the first place."

"Most of us will agree that Jesus is the one person in all the world who most successfully put himself in the second place. And therefore we put Him in the first place. It is interesting to notice what it was that Jesus put in the first place. It was the will of God. 'Not my will, but thine, be done.' Can we find anything better? Perhaps we ought to pause right here and think a bit about the will of God. Too long have we thought of it as some great burden, or hardship, or sorrow."

"I think of the will of God as the best that could happen and particularly the best good for the greatest number. If we have put the will of God in the first place it means that we have put there what is just and right and brotherly. It will mean that we have put first the welfare of the greatest number and not self or a select few. If we do this we will find it easy to occupy the second place. We will find that second place to be significant and glorious. And we will be on the way to become invulnerable in the world. We will have found how to get the peace of the mountains into ourselves. Our 'instinctive desire for repose' will be satisfied—even within the midst of this busy, noisy world."

Christian Science
The statement of Isaiah, "Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me, and that cover with a covering, but not of my spirit; that they may add sin to sin," constituted the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Everlasting Punishment" at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist, yesterday."

Among the Scriptural selections in the lesson-sermon were these words from the Book of Job: "For wrath killeth the foolish man, and envy slayeth the silly one. . . I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cause. . . He disappointeth the devices of the crafty, so that their hands cannot perform their enterprise. . . Behold happy is the man whom God correcteth."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, said: "Divine love corrects and governs man. Men may pardon, but this divine principle alone reforms the sinner."

HIGH SUMMER by Booth Tarkington

SYNOPSIS FOR PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

A "high summer" was how Mrs. Wheat described the social activities at a fashionable New England seashore resort to Ambrose Trainbush, the Brendle's gardener. Mrs. Wheat presided in the Brendle kitchen and exulted in the triumph of her employer, especially when it became generally understood that Miss Witty was as good as engaged to Norris Enderton, scion of the resort's social leaders. Kitty was 19 and pretty. The only thing to mar her summer had been that Joe Nutter suddenly developed a violent case of young love and accused her of avoiding him and "angling" for Norris. Just after the Brendles closed the season brilliantly with a dance at the beach club came the Wall Street crash. Mr. Enderton had switched his investments to U. S. securities but Mr. Brendle's automobile accessory factory went to smash. He had to sell his showy home in a mid-western city, mortgage his seashore cottage, sell his car, and he and his wife were reduced to a life of poverty. Mrs. Wheat, but Mr. Trainbush received his monthly check throughout the winter. As the summer season opened, Mrs. Brendle still suffered from her nervous breakdown, and her graying husband suffered from the loss of his fortune. 14 years old the previous year and very priggish in prosperity, was a changed boy. His mother was horrified to learn he had been going in for fishing on a commercial basis and had been associating with the "natives." A few days later Kitty received a letter from the very self-satisfied Norris, written in Italy.

INSTALLMENT TWENTY-THREE

Kitty read the letter, through twice; then her eyes dwelt reflectively upon various parts of it—the account of the natural mistakes of the Lugano hotel people and tourists, and the references to the princesses, "Old Show-off," she murmured, but not bitterly; for already, at twenty, she had acquired some clear-mindedness, much the same thing as fair-mindedness in people not too self-centered, and, during the illuminating, long wait for the letter, some light had been shed upon the obscure problem of high summer. If one of her two selves had asked the other of late, "What do you want?" the reply would have been decisive, "I don't want him!"

Unconsciously both she and Norris had looked at each other through their mothers' eyes, a habit of looking ill obviously prevailing with Norris, and seeing each other thus glided, had yielded to appropriateness, that ancient impulse of families to gather and perpetuate power by uniting; the rich marry the rich. Kitty did not blame Norris for his virtual jilting of her; already she owed to misfortune too much intelligence for that. She was aware that if she had continued to look through her mother's eyes, and the loss of fortune had been Norris's, not hers, the stripping off of his Endertonian "desirableness" would not have left remaining all that she had thought to marry.

Kitty's troubles had made her at last so wise that she knew now she would never have "looked at him" if Norris had been just a handsome young nobody on a holiday at the beach, or, for instance, a clerk in one of the "Gift Shops." Her train of thought was interrupted; she turned her head again to the window and looked down upon path beyond the terrace.

"Golly," she said, for once again she remembered all too well an afternoon when she had stood there struggling to keep the gold leaf upon him in her mind's eye, and hating Joe Nutter for trying to make her imagine Norris as a "Gift Shop" clerk.

The recollection was vivid; almost in substance and color she seemed to see herself down there upon that path, confronting Joe—his vehement flushed face and the desperate gestures with which he mused up his hair were startlingly clear—and that was the first time she had worn the gray chiffon and the broad lace hat, wasn't it?

"Oh, go away!" she said to these ghosts of the long ago last summer, for she cared about now as to become a good landscape gardener. She laughed ruefully, and rising, dropped young Mr. Enderton's letter into her wastebasket. "Only thing you could have done," she said to it, and went downstairs to brighten up her father with an account of his wife's afternoon activity in the garden.

Mrs. Brendle's trowelings had so fascinated her, in fact, that she renewed them on the following morning. Mr. Trainbush bore them (and his consequent proximity to command and criticism) with as much outward calm as he could maintain. The new manner of things threatened to be permanent, at least for this summer; daily he was to be closely associated, he began to realize, with two female collaborators, and his condition was principally one of bewilderment. He was bewildered by himself that he did what he did, and he spoke of his strange state of mind to Mrs. Wheat, on the last evening of Mr. Brendle's short sea-air holiday. Mr. Trainbush wiped the dinner dishes for Fluvia as he talked.

"Seems like I ain't the same man," he said self-pityingly, as he slowly dried a fine Wedgwood plate she handed him from the sink. "Else I couldn't put up with what I let myself put up with. Squandered at from mornin' till night to take and do this and do that and take and run here and run there and take and run here and there! Got the two of 'em at me, the both together, one of 'em peckin' and flidin' fault on one side of me and the other hollerin', 'Hurry, git me rocks!' on the other. 'Spected to use one hand here, the other one here, and to grow a tail with a hand on the end of it to use some-where else! Got me so I don't git my breath long enough to utter a complaint. 'Tain't like me! Ain't myself. Seem like a man 't's had a shock."

"Why, no, you don't," said Fluvia assured him comfortingly. "Miss Kitty say she gitlin' more work out of you than you even dream of yourse. Say she take"

great pleasure thinkin' how smart she is to do it."

"Glad to hear it," he returned moodily. "Let her take her pleasure where she finds it, if so be she's a mind to! Neb Huckens says yestiddy he heard some people wondered what the name of goodness Brendles come back here for this season."

"Who say it?" Mrs. Wheat asked, bridling instantly. "Who say they wouldn't Brendles come back here? Who talk that a-way? Who Ned Buckam?"

"Neb Huckens. How it come about, Neb come in Thompson's, see me, and says a person told him this other party says it seem'd like the Brendles wouldn't choose to come back no more to a place where they used to put on so much style. This party says seem'd funny they wouldn't go some-where else where their comedown wouldn't be knowed on 'em."

"Who? Who this party? Who talk so big mouf about Brendles gittin' a comedown? Where any comedown? They think' cause we 'sponse with a few ill go-gaws, an' turn off Gastaw an' some few others we had settin' round here, that mean' a comedown? Let 'em listen to me; I tell 'em! We showin' more class right now, 'n 'em parties know how to handle in their whole life long! We 'low more money' iss one year 'n 'tm parties go 'cumulate their whole long life, yet we got fine big cottage, good automobile in 'g'rawdies, eat high and live high an' roll high same's ever! Look at M's Brendle! Nervous breakdown! Who say she ain't show' class? Who this party? Who this big mouf Ned Duckham you tellin' so much about?"

"Neb Huckens. But he wasn't the one that said it," Mr. Trainbush explained. "Cordin' to Neb, this party says she wondered why both the Brendle and Peck families come back here 'count of their comedown, an' especially in regard to bow Willie Peck an' Melroy smell this season."

"Smell!" Mrs. Wheat cried fiercely. "Who talkin' about—?" "Neb didn't feel no 'greement with her," Mr. Trainbush protested de fensively. "Says himself she was too highly-tightly for him. Sh'd think she was! Complainin' o' smell o' fish!"

"Who? Who make that complaint of Melroy Brendle? Ed Ruckham?" "No! His name's Neb Huckens. Way it come about, Neb come in Thompson's, see me, an' says his brother-in-law's wife, Lida Bestwell, says this party offered to go out in Hillban's boat with Melroy and this here Willie fer fish, an', when they wouldn't let her, says she wouldn't never have another thing to do with 'em, an' complainin' they smelt of it an' says what a comedown the Brendles an' Pecks—"

"Who? Who this Lida Bestwell she talkin' so?" "It wasn't her!" Mr. Trainbush, badgered, became shrill. "This party that said it was a summer party!"

"Who? What her name?" Mrs. Wheat demanded vehemently. "What summer party been ruinin' down all 'ese ice-cream families like Brendles an' Pecks an'—?" "Mamie Fuller."

"Who?" Mrs. Wheat cried incredulously. "Mamie Fuller. Lida Bestwell takes in Fullers' washin' an' this here Mamie told her—"

"Who?" Mrs. Wheat started him with the suddenness of her barbaric cackle of laughter. "Mamie Fuller! Name ain't even Mamie, M's Tremham. That lil ole girl ain't even got a class name! Name soun' like mouse squeakin' behine the plasterin'! 'Mee-mee! Mee-mee-mee-mee-mee! T-h-a-t's my mouse goin'! STATE'S HISTORY TOLD WOMAN'S CLUB

MIDWAY CITY, Oct. 31.—Early California history was discussed in interesting manner at the Midway City Woman's club meeting recently by Terry Stephenson, of Santa Ana, and by Mrs. R. P. Meares, secretary of the club, who substituted for Mrs. W. H. Taylor.

The "Sunshine Buddy" feature which is to be carried out by the club will be taken up at the next meeting. This method of raising money is taking the place of the luncheons which were given last season.

Mrs. William Schmidt and Mrs. Birdwell, hostesses for the day, served coffee and wafers.

CLARK GABLE. HARLOW SCORE IN 'RED DUST'

The new combination, Clark Gable and Jean Harlow, playing in "Red Dust" at the Fox Broadway theater, were heavily.

The picture, which opened here yesterday is one of the most appealing dramas of the year and should be one of the biggest box office attractions in the past several months.

It is the film Miss Harlow was working on at the time of the tragic death of her husband a few weeks ago. In it she plays the best part of her career. Opposite Gable, she is forced to do her best work for Gable is splendid.

The story concerns life on a rubber plantation. A hard, down to the soil kind of a life, in which women are merely women and no more, a strange love affair blossoms between Gable and Mary Astor. Harlow is in the background, but an ever present menace. The climax of the film will surprise and stir even the most blasé.

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon
WAR

It is no exaggeration to say there may be war in Europe before spring.

Our officials do not want to talk about such a thing in public. They are all speculating on it in private.

There seems to be but one thing to prevent it. That is a close liaison between the United States and Great Britain for peace. Only those two nations, in a united front, can put out the fire.

Our diplomacy is now quietly working toward that end. That is what Norman Davis has been doing in London.

Such a liaison is not as easy to effect as it sounds. The British are weaker economically and politically than this country generally realizes. Her interests on the continent are varied and touchy. They have effectively tied her hands so far.

You will hear much on this subject shortly after election.

FRANCE

Do not look surprised if the Herriot ministry should suddenly topple over some day.

The boys who turn the inside machinery say Provincial Herriot may shortly be compelled to make way for Parisian Tardieu backed by the French steel men. That will cook the disarmament goose, if it is not already overdone. Herriot indicated recently he was prepared for it. He told a gathering of newspapermen: "Being premier is like being a jockey; the trick is all in knowing which way to fall."

It will be to the Left.

GERMANY

All this screaming about Germany's private debts comes under the head of political noise-making.

Down underneath arrangements already are being made to handle that situation. The $500,000,000 of short term credits probably will be refinanced into long term obligations. The 7 per cent interest rate on the $200,000,000 Dawes loan probably will be reduced. The 5 1/2 per cent of the Young plan long term loan probably will be retained.

Everyone here realizes Germany cannot pay now. They do insist that money put into Germany is much safer than some we have put elsewhere. For instance, South America.

The reason that von Papen is howling about paying in goods is that he wants some tariff concessions. He needs an outlet for German manufacturers. The howl will merely call the attention of the world economic conference to Germany's need for markets. The attention of the New York bankers already has been obtained.

Our experts figure Germany's private debt at under two billions. They do not accept the private estimates which run to three or four billions.

Of the $200,000,000 loan under the Dawes plan we hold the sack for $110,000,000. We have $98,250,000 of the $350,000,000 floated under the Young plan arrangements.

In all there is about $1,100,000,000 of American money in Germany long term securities. In addition American manufacturers — Henry Ford, International Harvester, Singer Sewing Machine, etc. — have about $275,000,000 invested there.

The short term credits of $500,000,000 brings the total American investment in Germany to $1,875,000,000. You can mark these figures down in your hat as more accurate than you will receive elsewhere.

They show how deeply we are involved in Europe today and what little chance we have of getting out for some years to come.

The long term loans are spread around this country among small bankers and investors. The short term credits are held mainly by New York banks.

NOTES

Mr. Hoover's nervousness has noticeably increased during the allers observe how he fidgets his left hand in a peculiarly sharp manner. . . . His doctor is blind the election is not another month off. . . . Evidence that the Japs have changed their tune continues to pile up. . . . Latest is the word of her plan to offer a disarmament proposal. . . . Her military budget for next year is a billion yen. . . . That is about 25 per cent more than this year when she financed a Shanghai campaign. . . . The seizure of Jehol is yet only a question of time. . . . All her orators always speak of Jehol in the same category as the three other Manchurian provinces which she already dominates. . . . Her sweet disarmament song now will not deceive those who know her ambitions. . . . It marks only a change in diplomacy.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin
CREDIT

How the banks really feel about business credit is very clear if you look closely at the figures. Total loans and investments are up by 788 million dollars since the low point in July. When you break this down you find an increase of one billion $8 million dollars in bank holdings of government securities, a plus of a mere 96 million dollars in other investments, and an actual decrease of 396 million dollars in total loans. This is the largest transfer of private credit to public credit in modern history. The figures say—and the bankers agree with them—that the government can borrow all the money it wants but nobody else need apply. One leading banker puts it that the government has become a super-holding company. As long as times are bad this is O. K. with the banks. How it will work out when normal conditions return is a bird of an entirely different hue.

TRADE

The Anglo-Canadian trade agreement was the tipoff to local financial authorities that we might as well wave goodbye to our foreign trade for a long time to come. They expect more and better agreements aimed at us along the same lines.

FRANCE

A New York bank with a Paris branch states that conditions in France are getting worse rapidly. Tax collections have fallen way below expectations and the budget is getting further unbalanced week by week. Unemployment is sharply on the increase. French authorities are worried but no covering program is in sight.

An important cause of the trouble was the foreign investments which France made for "security" purposes. The French have loaned heavily to such states as Hungary and Poland—not with the idea that they were making good investments but with the avowed purpose of creating allies against Germany. At the same time good foreign investments were turned down because they didn't fit into the "security" scheme. Now a new Hungarian ministry is definitely anti-French and Poland is greatly weakened economically and blaming France for its troubles. So the "ring of steel" around Germany is dissolving into sand.

A distinguished American who has just returned from several months abroad says that the French apprehension of German aggression is almost unbelievable. Every butcher, baker and candle stick maker is talking about the inevitability of war.

GERMANY

Bankers, private reports indicate the Nazi party as definitely on the downgrade. Middle class followers are deserting by thousands because they resent vituperation of their idol Hindenburg. By his attacks on Papen Hitler also alienated certain nationalistic elements. Storm troops are now in open rebellion (as forecast in this column two months ago). They accuse Hitler of having deprived them of their chance to take over power and the bitterness of the enlisted troops against the arrogance of their officers has resulted in several brutal assaults on their leaders. It is reliably reported that Nazi finances will be exhausted after November 15th.

BERRY

Comptroller Berry has played his part in the budget picture which Tammany assigned to him and will shortly be on his way out. One dollar will get you five if you think he will still be in office after the first of the year. Deputy Comptroller Priol is slated for his job. Priol has political qualifications which will be important to Tammany next year. Berry is being very mysterious about a new plan designed to make the City financially independent of the banks. The banks are skeptical to put it politely. The best dope available says that Berry's idea is to sell City securities hereafter directly to the public as required. The project seems a trifle optimistic.

CITY

There is a lovely little row in the making in the Bronx. The O'Brien campaign manager for that county has discovered that many voters have received surreptitious instructions to lift the slide in McKee's name for mayor. It is an amusing idea but it won't get anywhere. Tammany leaders are privately blaming Flynn and Flynn of course denies any knowledge of how it came about. It is hardly likely that Flynn really had anything to do with it.

An interesting feature of the city registration is the enormous increase in the number of women voters. The Borough of Brooklyn showed a 70 per cent gain in this category.

Shuler Pledges Fight In Interest Of The People

THOUSANDS AT GREAT RALLY FOR CANDIDATE

A crowd estimated at more than 3500 persons greeted the Rev. R. P. (Bob) Shuler, militant Los Angeles pastor who is a candidate for United States senator from California, when he delivered a forceful speech at Irvine park Saturday afternoon in his crusade for "free speech, human rights and economic justice."

Preceding Shuler's address, E. E. Long announced a Shuler parade for next Saturday afternoon when he will speak in Riverside. Santa Ana cars are to form into line on the state highway near the fair grounds about 12:30 p. m. and join the parade to Riverside.

Shuler introduced Mayor Raymond V. Darby of Inglewood, who declared he had decided not to go hog-tied and handcuffed but was going to vote as he pleased. He gave Shuler his unqualified endorsement as a man who will fight for the American people, because he is the only candidate for the office and because he said Shuler could not be controlled.

Cole Simons, of Los Angeles, recently returned from Northern California, predicted that Shuler would carry Northern California with a 250,000 majority. He introduced Shuler following his brief address.

Shuler began his address with figures on estimated votes from the various parts of California, which were optimistic.

you people, gather up billions of dollars that they did not work for or earn, out of other people's pockets and laid it away in their own. The Wall Street brokers sell wheat that never was put into the ground, threshed or put into a bin, gather up billions of dollars gambling on wheat, cotton, etc., while the farmers can't pay their taxes and their homes are taken from them.

Fight For People

"We have lost control of our government. I think there is just as much hope in one of the old parties as the other. Parties are hopeless; they are in the hands of a bunch of political racketeers who expect to get something out of every man who goes into office.

"They say that Bob Shuler, if he goes to the United States senate, will be helpless because he can't play with the Republicans or the Democrats. I am not going up there to play with the Republicans or the Democrats, or to play golf or play poker. I am going there to make a fight for the American people. If God gives me strength, I am going to represent not only one party. I am going to represent the people of the state of California.

"They ask me if I will back Mr. Hoover if he is re-elected. I shall consider that the people of America have spoken, that you have empowered him to be at the head of your nation as your president, and I shall, with all the strength of my soul, co-operate with him in everything he undertakes to do for the good of the American people. Every part of his program that is for the benefit of this nation I will undertake to do.

"If Mr. Roosevelt is elected I shall consider that the American people have spoken, that they have chosen the man they desired to run this country, and to the best of my ability, before Almighty God, I will back him in every part of his program that means good to the people of this nation, and I am the only man who can do that.

"If Mr. Hoover and Mr. McAdoo are elected, Mr. McAdoo is pledged to fight him all along the line, and if Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Tubbs are elected, it will be the same. If a Democrat goes in, the Republicans consider it is their job to get him out and to get in themselves and vice versa.

Simple Remedy

"I am an independent and not tied to either one of them. We have come where we have to lift humanity in this country. We have to stop a little bunch at the top from gathering all the money from the people as fast as they make it.

"The remedy is just as simple as A. B. C. When we bring this country back to the people and run this country in the interests of ourselves we can solve this situation. The honest man must live by the fruits of his labor. He can't do it now. My own fight has been for the interest of humanity. This is not a political

"The situation in which we find ourselves today is very simple to understand but complex as to the matter of its solution," he declared. "Our fathers founded a protest government—a protest against the character of government in Europe, where a little bunch of fellows hogged everything in sight.

"There is many a man in Washington now who is saying that we are electing our last president right now and that we will be having a dictator within a few years. I heard the acceptance speech of Mr. Hoover when he said that no time of more peril had faced this country since the Civil war. A few months ago Warner Brothers made $20,000,000 without doing a thing that makes humanity better or makes for prosperity. They simply juggled the stock of a movie corporation and took the people's money and put it in their pockets.

"Raskob made $500,000 in six days and did not work for or sweat a drop, or add one iota to the sum total of human benefit. Mr. Mellon held office for eight years, gathered up $300,000,000 and laid it away. The international bankers, by bringing over here worthless European paper and selling it to

Where Do You Find Pumpkins! In the C-O-R-N-F-I-E-L-D-S But Can You Spell it, One Hop at a Time

With scissors, cut out the ten lettered discs. Then place them on the pumpkin which bear the corresponding letters. As you see, no letter goes on the bottom pumpkin. Now the problem is to arrange the discs so they will spell "Cornfields" when read in a clockwise direction, leaving no letter on the bottom pumpkin.

The black discs must be moved only in the direction in which a clock hand moves. The white discs must be moved only in the opposite direction—counter clockwise.

One disc may jump over one of the opposite color if there is no disc on the next pumpkin beyond. For instance, if you start by moving F, then N can jump over F. If F then moves toward I, you may jump O over N and so on. A disc cannot jump over one of its own color. The puzzle can be solved in 26 moves. Can you solve it? (Solution on page 14.)

AIR MAIL NOW FASTER UNDER NEW SCHEDULE

Air mail from Santa Ana and all Southern California cities will be expedited by a day in delivery time to all points in Northeastern, Rocky Mountain, Central, Great Lakes and Eastern states through inauguration tomorrow night of a later departure time of the Western Air Express air mail planes via Salt Lake City. It was announced today.

Although the schedule of the local post office will not be changed according to postal authorities, delivery of mail will be expedited one day by the new departure time of the planes, Western Air Express officials announced from Los Angeles.

The night schedule will be moved up from a 7 p. m. departure at San Diego to 10:05 p. m. and an 8:25 p. m. departure at Los Angeles to 11:30 p. m. Air mail from Southern California will then be delivered at all points west of Chicago the following day and New York City the second morning.

The mail plane will deliver air mail to Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio points the day following mailing here.

The new schedule eastbound follows: Leave San Diego, 10:05 p. m.; arrive Los Angeles, 11:15 p. m.; depart Los Angeles, 11:30 p. m.; depart Las Vegas, Nev., 1:45 a. m.; arrive Salt Lake City, 6:35 a. m. (M.T.); depart Salt Lake City, 7:30 a. m. (M.T.); depart Cheyenne, 11:30 a. m. (M.T.); depart Omaha, 3:35 a. m. (C.T.); arrive Chicago, 10:15 (C.T.); depart Chicago 12 midnight (C.T.); arrive New York City, 7:32 a. m. (E.S.T.).

Coincidentally with the new air mail service, a one-day transcontinental night air passenger service, the first of its kind from Southern California, will be established.

Those catering to the tourist trade in Uruguay are rejoicing over the renewal of diplomatic relations with Argentina for it means that foreign visitors will visit the country as usual.

CANTANDO CLUB OPENS SEASON NOVEMBER 15

Tuesday, November 15, will be the opening date of the Cantando club season, it was announced today by the board of directors of that outstanding musical organization of the community. This opening concert for which rehearsals have been in progress for several weeks, will be held in the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

The guest artist for this occasion will be Frederic Scott, dramatic tenor soloist of Los Angeles. Cantando club executives have expressed satisfaction over this success in procuring this well-known American tenor, who has achieved much success in grand opera and in musical motion pictures. During the past summer he scored in his interpretation of the character "Turkdu" in the Mascant opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana," given in Los Angeles. Also he has sung leading roles in such motion picture successes as "The Grand Parade," "Swing High," and other musical plays.

Holders of season tickets for the Cantando club concerts have been informed that the drawing for reserved seats for the season will open tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Santa Ana Book store and those who have not made reservations already, should arrange to do so at that time.

The concert on the night of November 15 will launch the seventh consecutive year for the Cantando club, which has for the past half dozen years, delighted Santa Ana audiences. Ever since its founding, the club has functioned under the direction of Leon Eckles, and has had Miss Ruth Armstrong as accompanist.

An unusually high standard was set in the opening concerts of its first year, and has been maintained in succeeding years until the Westminister naturalization class which Mrs. Florence Summers, Americanization teacher for the Huntington Beach Union High school district, teaches each Thursday evening for Mexicans at Hoover school. The attendance now stands at 36.

ECONOMIST TO CONFER WITH CITRUS MEN

Seeking a definite and permanent solution to Southern California's citrus marketing problem citrus growers of Orange county and the nine southern counties are invited to a conference in Los Angeles tomorrow. This meeting is called for the purpose of a conference between the county representatives and Dr. H. R. Wellman of the University of California. The conference will be held at 10 a. m. in the Los Angeles county court adviser's office, 354 North Spring street.

Orange county will be represented at this conference by Dr. D. D. Wawnick, chairman of the recently appointed committee representing the nine southern counties Farm Bureau citrus departments, and others. The committee headed by Wawnick was authorized several weeks ago at a meeting of the citrus departments of the nine counties and was instructed to cooperate with Wellman in his survey of the citrus industry in California.

Wellman is undertaking the citrus survey at the request of grower and marketing organizations representing 90 per cent of the state's citrus crop. The survey was urged as the basis for a permanent production and marketing program to prevent chaos in the industry.

Allen Wheaton, chairman of the Associated Citrus Growers has pledged the cooperation of his organization in the study and said "we will work hand in hand with this movement. Action of this kind is exactly what the Associated Citrus Growers have been seeking."

Class Members Hold Hay Ride

PLACENTIA, Oct. 31. — Miss Edith McNutt and her P. A. M. club girls had a hay ride Saturday night, taken on a truck owned and driven by Roy Hale, who was accompanied by Ernest Risher, and after touring the country, returned to Calvary church for a time of games and refreshments.

Attending were Dorothy Tayles, Lois Brunemeier, Lois Risher, Frances Bowen, Helen Mondotte, Ira May Fowler, Aleda Franklin, Janet Stone, Kathryn Watson, Mary Koenig, Rebecca Lowrey and Miss McNutt.

ENROLLMENT INCREASES WESTMINSTER, Oct. 31. — Enrollment is steadily increasing in the Westminister naturalization class which Mrs. Florence Summers, Americanization teacher for the Huntington Beach Union High school district, teaches each Thursday evening for Mexicans at Hoover school. The attendance now stands at 36.

Fullerton

Mary Santa Ana Presbyterian women joined with those from other points in the Southland, in the meeting last week in Fullerton. The Federated Aid Society of the Los Angeles district, as this was the first meeting held in this district for several years, there was an unusually large attendance, the crowd numbering in excess of 400.

Mrs. Nora Wherry of Hollywood, president of the organization, conducted the meeting. Dr. Graham Hunter, pastor of Fullerton Presbyterian church, led devotional, and Mrs. A. W. Wigham, president of the hostess society, gave an address of welcome. During the morning session Robert Noll of Fullerton, played trombone solos, "The Sunshine of Your Smile" and "Carnival of Venice." Lunch was served in the dining room of the church.

In the afternoon Dr. Alexander Irvine addressed the assembly on the subject "The Carpenter and His Kingdom." Dr. Matthews, pastor of the "Radio Church of the World," gave a short talk, and special music was given by Miss Wigham who sang two numbers, "My Task" and "It's Morning."

Mrs. E. L. Morrison of this city, is superintendent of the Orange county district and the success of the meeting depended largely on her efforts.

The following were in attendance from the local Presbyterian church: Mesdames O. Scott McFarland, E. L. Morrison, S. A. Jones, Mary Crisman, M. F. Leach, O. H. McKee, Cynthia Davis, L. Livingston, Ella Avery, Chas. Gamble, E. B. Smith, Charles Wiggins, Sarah V. Speak, P. Beissel, C. H. Baird, Kate Kettie, Emma Bishop, Mary Galloway, Mary Heathman, J. N. Osborn, Emma Prettymann, Sarah A. E. L. Hull, E. N. Brothers, F. E. Dearth, Julia Jeffery, W. C. Vieira, J. W. Flagg, E. F. Gebe, A. Was, Albert Schultz, A. L. Eels, H. A. Leiby, J. R. Moore and the Misses Mary Craig, Jennie Kresse, Robbie Jones, Louise Friedly, Leslie Smith.

The hostess church was given a vote of thanks for kindly giving the use of the church auditorium to a sister organization.

Store Employees Take Part in Evening
Party

Alpha Beta employees joined in an evening of merriment Thursday, when they took part in a Halloween party held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Guests were met by ghost-like figures, who acted as ushers through the spooky chambers which had been arranged for the occasion.

After submitting to electric shocks, ghostly handshakes and other Halloween experiences, the 50 members and friends in attendance took their places in the gayly decorated room. Everyone remained in costume for half an hour.

A grand march before the judges followed, with Lars Hansen receiving the award for being the best dressed man. Glenn Delapp, masquerading as a well-dressed woman, also won a prize. Lester Cettrell was rewarded for wearing the most amusing costume.

Lively games were enjoyed, and Joe Grimshaw entertained with songs and readings. Refreshments served late in the evening included pastry made by the bakery department of the stores and a decorated cake presented with compliments of Holman.

Harold G. Holman of the general office was in charge of general arrangements for the party.

Newly Wedded Couple
Establish Home in Long Beach

Quietly wedded Friday morning, October 28 in the home of the Rev. F. A. Weckman, pastor of St. Joseph's church, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Daley, Jr., today were establishing their home in Long Beach, following a week-end honeymoon trip to Big Bear. Mrs. Daley was Miss Neva Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Barnett of Saugus.

The ceremony took place at 9 o'clock in the morning, with a group of close relatives and friends of the young couple in attendance. The bride wore a smart wool costume in tones of bronze, with hat, veil and all other accessories matching. Contributing a bridal touch to her ensemble was a corsage of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Long of Whittier attended the bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Long was prettily gowned in black, wearing a gardenia corsage.

Present at the ceremony were the bride's mother, Mrs. Donald Barnett of Saugus; her aunt, Mrs. W. R. Harvey of Santa Ana; Mr. Daley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Daley; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Daley; Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Daley; Mrs. Charles Davis of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daley of Long Beach; Ray Jenkins of Fullerton.

From the parsonage, the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Daley, 702 Bush street, where a beautifully appointed wedding was served. A pink and white color scheme was observed at the table, where sweet peas were the flowers used. At noon, the new Mr. and Mrs. Daley left for Big Bear for the week end. They are making their home in Long Beach where Mr. Daley is employed with the telephone company. Both he and his bride are well known here, where they attended Santa Ana high school.

Close Friends Advised
Of Bowles-Chapman
Engagement

Simplicity characterized the party Saturday evening at which Miss Enid Bowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bowles of 615 French street, disclosed her engagement to Robert Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Chapman of Tustin. Announcement was made at an informal dinner given in the Bowles home for a small group of the hostess' closest friends, former schoolmates at Santa Ana high school. No wedding date was indicated.

News of the betrothal was revealed by means of announcements and pictures of the couple, folded, newspaper fashion, within napkins at the several dinner covers. The hours following the request were devoted to reminiscence, the gathering being in the nature of a reunion.

Miss Bowles is at present on leave of absence from the University of California at Berkeley, where she studied a year after spending two terms at Scripps college. She is a graduate of Santa Ana high school. Her fiancé completed the courses at Tustin Union high school and Santa Ana junior college before joining the Santa Ana offices of the Southern California Edison company, with which concern he has been associated for three years.

Guests Saturday evening were the Misses Marion Parsons, Adairuth Ellis, Marjorie Walton, Carole Swain, Phyllis O'Connor, Grace Marcher, Wilma Patterson, Emma Tannenbaum, Wilma Bell and Marjorie Adams.

Barn Meeting Thursday
To Feature French
Program

With a brief one-act French comedy as its basis, the November Barn meeting of the Santa Ana Community Players, scheduled for Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, will be entirely French in character, according to Miss Leila Watson, November chairman.

Miss Watson, head of the language department at Santa Ana junior college, has listed the services of a number of her French students in preparing the comedy, which, while of French composition, is based on a Chinese legend. The drama, considerably shorter than the French play presented last year at The Barn, will be given in costume.

Other program measures promise an equal quality of entertainment. Holly Leah Visel is preparing a group of songs descriptive of current happenings and contemporary scenes in Paris, and Thomas Hall Glenn, head of the English department at the Santa Ana junior college, will describe "Present Day Theatre of Paris." Mr. Glenn, returned only this summer from a year's sojourn in Paris, is peculiarly qualified to discuss this subject and may be counted on to amplify his talk with interesting personal observations.

A number of Barn members are cooperating with Miss Watson in preparing refreshments for Thursday night's patrons, whose attention is called to the change in meeting hours for this program.

Honoree at Party Will Go East for Visit
With Relatives

In compliment to Mrs. W. M. Belding, who expects to leave November 1 for an extended visit with relatives in Illinois, was a pleasant affair staged last week in the hospitable Perry E. Lewis home when Mrs. Lewis invited in a group of old friends and neighbors to spend the afternoon.

In the spacious living room, gay with decorations of Irish elegance and Dame Edith Helen roses, the guests assembled to await the arrival of the honoree, to whom the party was a complete surprise. As Mrs. Belding, accompanied by Mrs. Lee Ward, was greeted by the entire group singing "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot."

A variety of sandwiches and relishes, fruit and orange marmalade cakes, spiced pears and hot chocolate were served by Mrs. Lewis, assisted by Mrs. Lee Ward. Mrs. Belding spent last winter in the Canal Zone with her daughters, Mrs. Arthur C. Van Brocklin, of Balboa Heights, and Mrs. John M. King, of Cretobelt, returning to her Tustin ranch for the summer and fall. She will be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Perry E. Lewis this week end, leaving Tuesday by rail for her home town, Lanark, Ill., later going to Freeport and Chicago, Ill. for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. C. White and daughter, of Hemet, will occupy the Belding home during the owner's absence in the east.

Those sharing the delightful afternoon with Mrs. Lewis and her honor guest, Mrs. Belding, were the Mesdames John Zellan, H. L. Leonard, Joseph L. Marshall, Harry W. Lewis, of Santa Ana; Mrs. H. W. Whitman, of El Modena; Mrs. Harvey Bennett and daughter and son, Bonnie and Harvey, Jr., of El Toro; Mesdames C. F. Bennett, Jessie Leiby, D. L. McClellan, E. W. Suddaby, Frank Grace Marcher, John Deister, Eva Logan, J. O. Preble and Jennie Vance, of Tustin.

YOU and your Friends

Week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mills, 1069 West First street, were their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Matlack of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Forgy and daughter, Miss Dorothy Forgy, returned Saturday to their home at 2107 North Broadway, concluding a ten day trip to the Grand Canyon. The Forgy's stopped en route home in Phoenix and in other Arizona cities and report a splendid trip.

Among Santa Ana students home from Southern California universities over the week end were Miss Wilma Adams of Pomona College, Miss Marjorie Adams of Occidental college and Miss Emma Tannenbaum of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons in Los Angeles.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

I get awfully out of patience with girls whose boast is that they know nothing about cooking and don't want to. How in the name of all that's sane do they expect to make a successful job of marriage?

It's a poor deal to hand a struggling husband—and most of them have to struggle in these times to get a toe hold. The attitude of the daughter on this subject is up to the mother at all times. Part of every girl's training should be a complete knowledge of housekeeping, marketing and cooking. Then when she has a home of her own she is competent to manage her husband's income whether it be large or small.

Make housework and cooking interesting to your young daughter. In teaching her don't be arbitrary, let her work out her own way as long as she gets there creditably. Teach her to look for the why's and wherefore's behind what she is doing... why the proper making of a bed serves strength and time... why gas flaring up around a cooking vessel is a waste of fuel... why muffins demand one degree of heat and cake another. There is romance and fascinating interest in housework and cooking if we'll just be enough interested to look for it. Old King Solomon was pretty much right when he said, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

TODAY'S RECIPE

Pork Chops With Baked Rice
Spanish
2 thin loin chops to each serving
1 scant tablespoon rice for each chop
1 large green onion, minced
2 large onions, chopped
A small handful of parsley, chopped
1 tablespoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon cayenne
Salt and pepper
1 hot tomato hot sauce
Hot water as needed
Some day when you are using the oven for long, slow cooking, plan to have this dish for dinner. Mashed cauliflower goes nicely with it and the ideal dessert is hot baked apples, another way to use the oven to capacity in this meal.

Measure out the required amount of rice—and when I say a scant tablespoonful of rice I mean just that. Wash the rice and spread it in the bottom of a baking dish, chop the vegetables and spread over the rice, then the chops, and finish with the various seasonings scattered over the chops. Pour the can of hot sauce over the rice, rinse out the can with hot water and set the pan into a medium oven to cook slowly. Turn the chops as they need it, add water in same manner. Time required for baking this dish, about two hours. The rice must be kept quite moist to be really nice.

A single portion with its share of rice has a caloric value of 400, most of which belong to the energy-makers.

GOOD FISH STORIES, the current leaflet, is offered to you this week in the hope that you will eat more fish and serve it in ways that will make the family look forward to Friday as something other than a day of penance.

You may have the leaflet free of charge this week if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed with your request.

Engagement News Told
By Toast Proposed
To Engaged Pair

It was at a true "gathering of the clan" on Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips, 302 South Parion street, that the engagement was announced of Miss Ruby Blair, a sister of Mrs. Phillips, to Robert Calderwood of Los Angeles.

Obviously called together for an evening of bunco and to celebrate the wedding season in true Scottish fashion, the guests were not apprised of the romantic nature of the festivity until at the refreshment hour following the series of games. Then card tables were arranged in a long row down the center of the room, and the place at the head of the table was accorded Robert Altken, whose present duty it was to make the betrothal announcement and to propose a toast to Miss Blair, seated on his right, and Mr. Calderwood, on his left.

The young people are making no announcement of their chosen wedding date beyond admitting that it will be some time after the first of the year.

Mr. Calderwood came to this country from Foulhouse, Scotland, half a dozen years ago and is employed with the Los Angeles Railway company. His fiancée, a charming, dark-eyed "Daughter of Auld Scotia," is from Aldrie, Scotland, and joined her sisters in this country some four years ago, after having spent several years in New Zealand as a nurse especially trained in mental cases. Two years ago she returned to Aldrie for a visit in her childhood home, where her sister, Miss Nan Blair, also of Santa Ana, is now visiting.

In the bunco contest which was a feature of Saturday night's party, first prizes were secured by Mrs. Andrew Turnbull and George Calderwood, with consolation gifts awarded Mrs. Bobbie Planchon and Andrew Turnbull. At the supper hour, Mrs. Phillips served refreshments entirely typical of her native land, "henry pies," oatcakes, fruitcake and scones. The after supper interval was devoted to congratulations to the newly engaged couple, and to the general singing of songs of Scotland.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Turnbull, Mrs. Bobbie Planchon, Miss Ruby Blair and John Riddell of this city; Mrs. Jenny Calderwood, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Calderwood, Messrs. George and Robert Calderwood, Mr. and Mrs. John Owens, Mr. and Mrs. James McArthur, Miss Margaret McArthur, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Altken, Miss Grace Brymer, Miss Margaret Brymer and David McCee, Long Beach.

D. A. V. Women Clear
Sum for Welfare at Halloween Party

Adapting appointments to the theme of the hour, the committee entrusted with the execution of plans for the benefit card party given Friday night by the Women's auxiliary, Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, modeled the entertainment of a Halloween scheme. To this end the workers resorted to such familiar appointments as cornstalks, pumpkins, cats, bats and owls in decorating for the party, held in the Isaac Walton lodge at Hillcrest park in Fullerton. Baskets of cottonseed introduced a wintry note into decorations.

Ten prizes were distributed during the evening to winners among men and women at bridge and 500 and to Mrs. A. J. Gottlieb and H. O. Rasmussen, who captured women's and gentlemen's door prizes. Others rewarded were: bridge, Mrs. Henry D. Edwards, first; Mrs. G. Pell, second; Verne Baker, first; C. H. Russell, second; 500, Mrs. W. J. Messer, first; Mrs. M. O'Brien, second; Archie Rosenbaum, first; T. P. Haxton, second.

Reset with supper linens, the card tables were utilized for refreshment centers later in the evening, a committee composed of Mrs. S. L. Simonton, chairman; Mrs. David R. Day and Mrs. J. E. Gill of Fullerton assisting with this, as well as with other phases of the entertainment. Proceeds brought a sizeable sum to the auxiliary's welfare fund, it was reported.

Among D. A. V. auxiliary projects awaiting the attention of members is the annual Gold Star Mother and Father night, to be presented jointly by chapter and auxiliary at the Legion hall Wednesday night, November 9, at 8 o'clock. A program of refreshments are planned and all Gold Star mothers and fathers residing in Orange county, including new arrivals, are invited. Transportation may be arranged by calling Mrs. Hazel Chittenden, at 2696-J, or Earl Hawke, at 3590 or 5474. Another plan discussed by auxiliary women at a recent meeting concerned the edgewise bride party planned for a November date at the home of Mrs. Fannie Reeves, 1009 French street.

Wedding in Placentia
Was Smart Event of
Saturday Night

An outstanding event in Orange county circles, was the wedding Saturday night in Placentia of Miss Irene Olive Wagner, daughter of the J. E. Wagners of that community, to Maynard D. Beard, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Beard of Whittier. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock in the country home of the bride's parents on Yorba Linda boulevard.

The single ring service was read by the Rev. E. E. Day of Whittier. Congregational church, before a bank of greenery and great golden chrysanthemums arranged in the spacious living room beneath a canopy of green ferns from which swayed a white wedding veil.

More than a hundred guests were assembled for the ceremony and to enjoy the reception and a buffet supper served by Mrs. Wagner with the assistance of ten of the bride's closest friends.

Miss Wagner wore a gown of white tulle of extreme simplicity and long, graceful lines, its chief trimming found in the girle of iridescent beads. A dainty maline cap caught with a spray of orange blossoms and a great cluster of roses showered with lilies of the valley, completed her bridal appearance. Following the tradition of "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue," she wore the crystals which formed her bridegroom's gift; carried a dainty handkerchief borrowed from Miss Virginia Shaw whose grandmother had carried it at her own wedding many years ago, and pinned on her maline cap with a blue jeweled pin.

Miss Mildred Dausser of Fullerton, as a pretty honor maid in formal frock of pink silk, crepe, cut on bias lines and harmonized with her arm cluster of pink and blue sweet peas. Forest Beard, brother of the bridegroom, served Mr. Beard as best man.

Elmer Wagner, brother of the bride, played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin for the entry of the wedding party, using Mendelssohn's Wedding March as a processional. As additional piano numbers, he played "Cello Etude" by Chopin, and "Alt Wein" by Godowsky. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Walter Schroeder of Anaheim, sang "Sweet Mystery of Life" and "All for You," with Mrs. Lawrence McIntyre, also of Anaheim, as her accompanist.

During the subsequent reception the new Mrs. Beard cut her wedding cake which accompanied the buffet supper served from a lace draped table gleaming with hand-some silver and burdened with chrysanthemums shading from pale mauve to deep orchid tones. Assisting Mrs. Wagner in hostess duties were the Misses Dorothy Dausser, Katherine Prizer, Peggy Bowen, Betty Hermsdorf, Betty Hampton, Virginia L. Grange, Genevieve Jones, Phyllis Corcoran, Florence Dausser and Margaret Mahoney.

Following this interval the newly wedded pair left for a honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead, Mrs. Beard wearing a smart silk suit in deep blue with dark dress accessories. Upon their return they will live in Whittier.

Mr. Beard graduated from the Fullerton district junior college and Whittier college, and is now employed with the Murphy Ranch company of Whittier. Mrs. Beard graduated from Fullerton Union high school and district junior college, and attended the University of California, Los Angeles.

Kern, as might be expected, does not share the appreciation of the beauty the vines give the structure.

THE TIME TO KILL A COLD

is in the First Stage, While it is Yet a "Dry" Cold!

Now it is known that a cold or ordinary passes through three stages. The first is the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours. The second is the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days. The third, the Mucous Secretion stage. Treated in the first stage, a cold is far easier to kill. As a matter of fact, when a cold passes into the second and third stages it is apt to become settled in the system and dangerous.

Nip a cold in the bud by taking Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine as soon as you feel the first symptoms. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine doesn't merely soothe a cold—it kills it because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels—kills the cold germs, infection and fever in the system—relieves the headache and grippiness—tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Effective as it is, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. It contains no narcotics and produces no bad after-effects. Does not upset the stomach or make the head ring. For years this famous tablet has been the relief of thousands in all cases of colds and grippiness. Take no chances with a cold so long as this dependable remedy is available. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any drug store in America. Comes in convenient, pocket-size box, cellophane-wrapped. No reliable dealer will try to sell you a substitute.

Contest Opened By C. E. Society

PLACENTIA, Oct. 31.—A newly opened contest was launched at the Christian Endeavor of Calvary church when the members were divided in sides, with Ray Howard leading one side and Jeanette Stone another, to gain points in bringing new members, speakers, music, memorizing Bible verses, and many other activities of the Endeavor, and is to close with a New Year's party, where the losing side will treat the winners.

On one side are Jeanette Stone, Hazel Hays, Paul Rouse, Evelyn Lemons, Dorothy Tayles, Orville Burns, Helen Caldwell, Morgan Gates, Eugene Washbon, Bert Gover, Bud Stewart, Lois Risher, Alida Franklin, Robbie Anderson, Ella Armstrong, Georgia Borden, Wilma Solesbee, Allee Geren and Norene Henry. On the other are Ray Howard, Mrs. Ray Howard, Franklin Prewitt, Mosselle Lemons, Louis Henthorne, Able Harris, Harry Stewart, Zella Caldwell, Mary Koenig, Roy Tillery, Mabel Smith, Meredith Phoenix, Leland Green, James Henry, Marie Grammar, and Leo Burns.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

Said Scouty, "Twas a shame that we were forced to cut down that big tree to save our friend, the flying horse. The tree is no good, now."

Up to the tree the farmer ran. "Oh, yes it is! I have a plan," said he. "I'm going to use the wood there to last me all the winter."

"Hey, Duncy! To my farmhouse run and get a big saw. When that's done, we'll take turns at sawing. Gee, I hope the lads are strong."

"We'll have some fun. 'Twill be a race at sawing wood for my fireplace. Why, there's enough wood there to last we all the winter long."

Instead of Duncy, Windy ran. He shouted back, "I know I can get there and back much quicker than poor Duncy. He is slow."

"We will admit that it is sad, but Duncy is a lazy lad." This didn't peeve wee Duncy. He just said, "All right, YOU go!"

The saw was brought back very quick. The farmer then showed them the trick of making it go back and forth. "It isn't hard," said he. "If we all work just as we should we'll shortly have a pile of wood. This winter it will keep me just as warm as warm can be."

And so the bunch began to saw. Soon Duncy said, "I want no raw spots on my hands from blisters." Then he sat right down to rest.

The other worked till, by and by, great chunks of wood were piled up high. "The job is finished," Scouty cried. "We've surely done our best."

"And now we'll use our flying horse. He'll gladly do his part of course. Let's load the wood right on him. It will bring the beast no harm."

"Then, when he has a great, big load, I'll drive him slowly down the road, and soon we'll have all of the wood stacked safely on your farm."

Pastor Attacks Propaganda Of Liquor Interests

DR. HUNTER IN DISCUSSION OF 'WET PARADES'

FULLERTON, Oct. 31.—Taking his text from First Corinthians, eighth chapter, 13th verse, "If meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth," Dr. Graham C. Hunter preached a temperance sermon yesterday morning on "The Wet Parade" outlining the picture he gets of three "wet parades" and enlarging on the one that is going to the polls next November 8 to ballot on issues concerning the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Saloon Days Recalled
In outlining the three parades, Dr. Hunter pictures the wet parade before days of prohibition, when every corner had a saloon, and when children were hungry and unclothed, and mothers were hungry and abused, because of the insatiable appetite of men for drink. Another parade pictured was the one typified in the "Wet Parade" in New York where those who wanted the prohibition amendment repealed paraded, making fun of all that was worth while, and "even insinuating that our Lord favored drinkings, by carrying in the parade a reproduction of da Vinci's 'Last Supper'."

This parade, he said, is significant of the forces which are placing before people propaganda for repeal. They placed figures through the press that 200,000 people marched. An actual count showed less than 15,000, he said.

This third parade, marching to the polls November 8, has in it a number of people who are planning to vote "wet" but who are doing so for false reasons they have been led into.

Six Classes Listed
These objectors to prohibition are divided into six classes, he said.

Those who have joined the parade because they say the amendment interferes with their personal liberty, he would answer by saying it is not conclusive argument for liberty ends where danger begins, and a person, having had a drink, and sitting at the wheel trying to drive, is a menace to personal liberty, he said. A second argument is that those objecting to the enforcement of prohibition do not like what they say is cruelty to prisoners in enforcement. These people, then, who plan to vote for repeal, should turn to prison and industrial reform rather than repeal, for it is being shown now that we are turning away from punishment of the small individual in liquor sales, and are concentrating on the producers of the illegal drink, he said.

No Reason To Argue
The third argument, presented often by conscientious men and women, that "liquor will bring back prosperity" almost "makes those of us who know the open saloon laugh." There is simply no reason in it, the Rev. Mr. Hunter declared.

That the liquor racket brings gangland into our midst is another argument that is refuted by statistics, according to the speaker, who said the attorney general's figures showed that gangland's per cent of liquor racket.

The fifth objection, that there is now more drinking than ever advanced by many, is another argument that is ridiculous," Dr. Hunter said. "I know I went to a college where they drank. We of the old days know better. Figures published by the National Education association investigation show there is much less drinking among young people, and that it is decreasing every year."

The last class that is advocating repeal is the class that is distressed, bothered by general conditions, by unemployment, people who "are opposed to prohibition, because they have not investigated, and because they must do something about conditions."

"The resentment of these people is really against depression, no work, and would not be present under normal conditions," he declared.

Hold Funeral Of Buena Park Man

BUENA PARK, Oct. 31.—Funeral services for William Umbarger, 58, who passed away after a long illness at the county hospital, were held from the Stone Funeral parlors Friday afternoon. The Rev. LaRue C. Watson delivered the sermon. Mrs. Myrtle Smith and Mrs. J. P. Wagg sang as a duet, "Nearer My God To Thee" and "Beautiful Isle Somewhere." Henry Conner, J. B. Sullivan, Ernest Welch, Harry Rutledge, Henry Frohn and Charles Owens acted as pallbearers. Interment was at Loma Vista cemetery.

Mr. Umbarger was born in Texas, where he had made his home until he came to California 18 years ago. He had made his home in Buena Park for the past four years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Etta Umbarger; a son, Raymond, of Buena Park, and a sister, Mrs. W. D. Moon, of Belfontaine, O.

'OH KAY' LEAD
Miss Marjorie Gowan, who has the leading feminine role in the mystery comedy, "Oh Kay," to be presented November 4 by the junior class of Tustin Union High school.

Three-Act Comedy Given By Tustin High Class On Next Friday

TUSTIN, Oct. 31.—"Oh Kay," a three-act comedy, selected by the juniors for their annual play, will be presented at 7:45 o'clock November 4 in the high school auditorium. Miss Mary Rose Borum, high school dramatics teacher, announced today.

The leading feminine role of Kay Mills, the beautiful and entrancing girl detective, is taken by Miss Marjorie Gowan. The leading masculine role of Art Whitman, a very lovable but "revengeful" young man, is taken by Edgar Pankey. The main two comedy leads are portrayed by Miss Marjorie Newcom as "Gram" Whitman, a typical but sharp-tongued grandmother, and Norman Mennes as "Gram" Whitman, a character who seems at times to be in his second childhood. The role of Edith Whitman, Art's 19-year-old "little" sister, who is fascinated with detective writing, is enacted by Miss Ida Alderman. Other members of the cast are Miss Lucille Griset, Mrs. Whitman; Peter Plumb, Jim Hayes; Nelson Rogers, George, the black terror; Willard Stearns, the captain; Stanley Wilson, Fred Alden, and Miss Eleanor Leiby, Alice Borden.

The entire action of the play takes place in the living room of the Whitman home during one night. Miss Audrey Pieper is student director; Miss Ida Griffith, properties manager; Willard Stearns, business manager; Stanley Wilson, assistant business manager. The costumes are in charge of Miss Barbara Cravath and Miss Lois Murray.

BREA PASTORS SEEK SUPPORT ON WRIGHT ACT

BREA, Oct. 31.—Members of the Brea Ministerial association brought to their audiences Sunday morning a pre-election message signed by the members of this association.

The message follows: "Every worthy citizen should vote NO on propositions one, two and five at the coming election. To repeal the Wright act at this time, regardless of our attitude on repeal, would be a calamity to our state. Until 1935, which is generally agreed to be the earliest possible date at which the 18th amendment might be repealed, there would be three years of practically unrestrained lawlessness."

"We are persuaded that if our hopes for a sober nation are frustrated in this election, it will be because good and well-meaning citizens—many of them members of our churches—will be misled by prejudice and misinformation, especially though the press of our nation, which is predominantly imbued with the spirit of Christ; an understanding of the past outstanding benefits of prohibition, even when imperfectly enforced; and a unified co-operation for the best interests of all, will bring victory."

Signing the message were the Rev. Joseph Grey, the Rev. J. Wesley Runyan, the Rev. Donald F. Gaylord and the Rev. B. H. Blanchard.

LEASING QUIZ WELCOMED BY BEACH MAYOR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 31.—Mayor Elton G. Conrad wired Governor James Rolph Jr. late Saturday stating that the city council would welcome an honest investigation of the leasing of the tidelands at Huntington Beach for oil and expressed a desire that the investigation also be made to include the draining of oil from public lands by the Standard Oil company.

Sunday morning Mayor Conrad received a telegram from Governor Rolph in reply saying: "Your wire received. Kindest regards."

The wire sent by Mayor Conrad to the governor was occasioned by the recent published statement of Governor Rolph that he would hold an investigation of the leasing of the tidelands here, following a request for such an investigation sent by William Garland, Los Angeles real estate and insurance broker.

Mayor Conrad said yesterday that he understood Garland handled a considerable amount of Standard Oil company insurance. The mayor characterized the request for an investigation as a last minute effort to discredit Proposition No. 11 on the November ballot, which provides offset wells on the tidelands to the enormously valuable Standard Oil wells stretched along the edge of the bluff and beach.

Records at the office of the city clerk here show that there was a petition signed by over 800 voters asking the council to lease the tidelands for oil and to place on the November ballot a proposition for a constitutional amendment granting the tidelands to the city by the state. Following filing of this petition the city council entered into the lease agreement with the Pacific Exploration company of which Earl Gilmore, of the Gilmore Oil company, is president.

Mayor Conrad stated that Garland's statement that there were 28,800 acres in the lease was like many statements put forward by opponents of Proposition No. 11, extremely misleading. Mayor Conrad explained that the city limits of Huntington Beach extends three miles out into the ocean over the tidelands, which the state owns. He said that it would be ridiculous to pretend that wells were to be drilled three miles out at sea, as intimated by Garland in his request for an investigation.

CITES STATISTICS REVEALING INCREASE IN DRINKING UNDER GOVERNMENT LIQUOR CONTROL

FULLERTON, Oct. 31.—"If it is true there is more drinking now than in the days before prohibition, why are the brewery interests so anxious to have the 18th amendment to the constitution repealed?" the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, pastor of Fullerton Methodist church, inquired yesterday morning in his sermon on "Temperance and Prohibition."

He gave statistics showing that in countries where no laws of prohibition in traffic of liquor are enacted, there are far greater number of automobile accidents, in proportion to countries where the sales are prohibited, and that in Canada, where the government has control, drinking continues to increase, and there has been a heavy gain in criminal cases in court.

Special attention was called in announcements to the church night dinner Friday, when all members and their families will gather at a pot luck dinner and an evening of fellowship. The Epworth leagues of Orange county will have an "Eighteenth Amendment" parade from Commonwealth park at 6 p. m., Saturday.

GARDEN GROVE DEATH CALLS LEAGUE GROUPS YOUTH HURT IN HOLD PARTIES JUNE OF 1931

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 31.—Hallowe'en parties were held by the different departments of the Epworth league of the Methodist church. The intermediate department of the league and the junior department of the Sunday school joined in a party at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Arkley. The children were assisted in playing games by Claud Brown, Avery Howell and Mrs. E. P. Williams, Sunday school superintendent.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie, apples and punch were served to 40 members.

Fifty members of the High School Epworth league gathered at the home of Arthur Schnitzer on North Euclid street for a 6 o'clock supper, which was served in the barn. The barn was decorated with orange and black paper streamers. Bouquets of Tithonia and tall tapers graced the center of the tables while bowls of fruits were at either end.

Miss Winifred Schneider was in charge of the games. At a late hour the young people enjoyed roasting marshmallows on an outside grate.

Dressed in Hallowe'en costumes, members of the Senior Epworth league, held their party at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Schnitzer on East Chapman street.

Lights had been strung around the yard for the occasion and games were played out of doors under the direction of Mrs. Lloyd Rodgers and John Harkness.

The refreshment committee of Anita Ames, Margaret Crane, Ruby Otta and Laura Watts served refreshments of pumpkin pie and cider to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rodgers, the Rev. and Mrs. Grover Halston, Norma Conner, Marjorie Hensted, Warren Kimball, Owen Lampman, John Harkness, Donald Schnitzer and Mr. and Mrs. Will Schnitzer.

PROGRAM ENJOYED BY EASTERN STAR

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 31.—An interesting program was presented in the social room of the Masonic hall recently following the regular meeting of Garden Grove chapter, O.E.S.

Mrs. Louise Bradshaw, of Orange, gave a talk on her recent visit to the Hawaiian Islands and exhibited many pictures, souvenirs and materials from the islands.

A saxophone trip composed of Warren Kimball, Walter Ziegler and Harold Chaplin, presented numbers. The trip was accompanied at the piano by Miss Onelia Ames. Warren Kimball played a saxophone solo.

At the next meeting of the Eastern Star chapter on November 10, election of officers will be held.

Refreshments of doughnuts and cider were served by Mrs. L. L. Doig and Mrs. A. F. Kearns to 40 persons.

Mrs. F. J. Newman Entertains Club

LA HABRA, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Frank J. Newman was hostess to the La Habra club at an all day meeting recently. The morning was spent in sewing and a pot luck luncheon was served at noon.

In the afternoon bridge was the diversion and prize were awarded to Mrs. Leslie Jones, high, and Mrs. Clarence Brewster, low.

The next meeting will be held in November at the home of Mrs. Clarence Brewster in Torrance.

Present were Mrs. Guy Miller, Buena Park; Mrs. Clarence Brewster, Torrance; Mrs. Leslie Jones, Mrs. Mattie Scott and Mrs. R. E. Frost, from La Habra.

MUSIC PUPILS OF LA HABRA GIVE RECITAL

LA HABRA, Oct. 31.—Mrs. H. G. Shirley presented her music pupils in recital Friday evening at the Baptist church. Prize pins were presented to Fern Jones and Glee Guthrie for having learned a certain number of pieces in a given time.

Mrs. Shirley announced that on next Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock she will present Fern, James and Claudina Jones, children of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jones, of North Lois street, in a recital.

Numbers were "Village Chimes," by the orchestra of 12 pieces, under the direction of Mrs. Shirley; "Radio March," Marjorie Zumwalt; "Lullaby," Floyd Nichols; "Woodruff Waltz," by Marjorie Bowman; duet, "A Shady Dell," Luella and Glee Guthrie; "Honey Bee," Eloise Buck; "Dreaming," composed by Mrs. Shirley and played by Roy Kelley on the trombone; "Prelude," by Rachmaninoff, by Fern Jones.

"Annonsa," by Bennett, played by the orchestra; "Fair Polka," by Mary Ruth Jordan; "Minuet," by Hadyn, played by Claudia Jones; "Diavola Song," Archer, by Jean Ludy; "Gavotte," Gassie, Ruth Nichols; "Shower of Roses," by Glee Guthrie; "Polonaise," Chopin, by Margaret Thornton; "Garland of Roses," Strabhog, Luella Guthrie; "Melody in F," Rubenstein, by James Jones; "At the Circus," by Virginia Buck; "Will to the Wind," by Paul Thornton; song, "In Old Shanty Town," by Fern and James Jones; "Gallion," a piano duet by Fern Jones and Margaret Thornton.

The judges, Mrs. Vern Russell, John Blystone and Dr. C. C. Jarvis, awarded the first prize in the ages from one to 12 years to Miss Phyllis Luesinger for prettiest costume and for funniest to Sonny Hanson. Prizes in the 12 to 20 year division were awarded to Gladys Blake and Joe Barton, and in the division above 20 years were given to Francis Smith and Mrs. William Watkins.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Florence Mathews, chairman; and among her assistants were Mesdames Vina Geane, Elsie LaFarge, Margaret Lackey, Grace Nelson, Vivian Nicodemus, Ceella Finch, Mary Crowe, Ella Stumbo, Clea Messera and Ruth Dumbo.

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 31.—Caught in a strong rip-tide, Peggy Rodriguez, of Los Angeles was carried a quarter of a mile out to sea before help could be summoned, as she and friends were bathing in the ocean near the Santa Ana river jetties yesterday.

Walter Deal, captain of the local life guards, effected the rescue, bringing Miss Rodriguez in in an exhausted but conscious condition.

AUXILIARY OF BREA LEGION HOLDS PARADE

BREA, Oct. 31.—Brea's Hallowe'en celebration put on by Legion auxiliary, aided by Legion members on Saturday evening brought out a crowd. Following a parade Assemblyman Ted Craig greeted the audience in the hall and called upon Mayor Hogue to take charge of the review.

The judges, Mrs. Vern Russell, John Blystone and Dr. C. C. Jarvis, awarded the first prize in the ages from one to 12 years to Miss Phyllis Luesinger for prettiest costume and for funniest to Sonny Hanson. Prizes in the 12 to 20 year division were awarded to Gladys Blake and Joe Barton, and in the division above 20 years were given to Francis Smith and Mrs. William Watkins.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Florence Mathews, chairman; and among her assistants were Mesdames Vina Geane, Elsie LaFarge, Margaret Lackey, Grace Nelson, Vivian Nicodemus, Ceella Finch, Mary Crowe, Ella Stumbo, Clea Messera and Ruth Dumbo.

Miss Fulmer is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Fulmer; a brother, Kenneth Fulmer, and a sister, Mrs. Ramona Muse.

SERVICES HELD IN LAGUNA FOR NORMA FULMER

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 31.—Hundreds of friends and students of the Tustin and San Juan Capistrano high schools gathered in Laguna Beach Saturday afternoon to pay their last respects to the memory of Miss Norma Fulmer, 17-year-old-high school junior, who lost a long battle for her life at the Angelus hospital, Los Angeles, Thursday. The funeral was held in the chapel of the Laguna Beach Funeral home at 2 o'clock and the Episcopal service was read by the Rev. Robert M. Hogarth, vicar of St. Mary's Episcopal church. The music was given by the choir of the church.

Miss Fulmer had been rehearsing a role with "Fan-fare," a play with music given recently as a P. T. A. benefit. On September 27 she was removed to the county hospital suffering from diphtheria and pneumonia. Two blood transfusions were given in an effort to save her life. The beautiful young girl apparently was recovering when a throat infection developed and her tonsils were removed.

A week later septic meningitis developed and the girl's life again was endangered.

Charles F. Reiser, movie director, who had assisted in the direction of "Fan-fare" was appealed to by friends and he brought Dr. Cecil E. Reynolds, a brain specialist, from Hollywood for consultation on the case. Miss Fulmer, a day later, was removed to the Angelus hospital and placed in a private room with special nurses. Once again she showed improvement and apparently was on the road to recovery when she collapsed suddenly. A septic embolism in the right hemisphere of the brain was given as the cause of death.

The pallbearers at the funeral were John Rox, Art Hadevis, Dean Benton, "Spud" Cochran, of Laguna Beach; Arnold Stroschein, Carl Bohelm, San Juan Capistrano; Robert Allen, Fullerton, and Elmer Osterman, of Tustin.

Miss Fulmer is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Fulmer; a brother, Kenneth Fulmer, and a sister, Mrs. Ramona Muse.
